His knowledge and authority should at all times be at their disposal for promoting police efficiency and for concerting measures for the better control of crime. Cases in which

Outposts are located where necessary for the control of crime and are subordinate to the police stations in the jurisdictions of which they are located. Normally, a police station is in charge of a Sub-Inspector or police and an outpost is commanded by an assistant sub-inspector or head constable.

No alteration in the number of police stations and outposts or in the boundaries of police station jurisdictions may be made without the sanction of the Provincial Government. Proposals for such alterations shall be submitted, in the form outlined in Appendix 1.10, by Superintendents of Police, through the District Magistrate to the Deputy Inspector-General of the range. PART II

RELATIONS BETWEEN POLICE AND MAGISTRATES

1.14. The Commissioner.—The Commissioner exercises through his District Magistrate a general control over the administration of his division in criminal as in other matters, and is specially responsible for the maintenance of co-operation between the police and the magistracy and of cordial relations with the police officials of Indian State on the border. He is expected to give attention to special reports and measures for dealing with special types crime, the working of the Criminal Tribes Act, the location of additional police quartered in disturbed areas and the work of the prosecuting agency.

It is the duty of the Deputy Inspector-General of the range to keep the Commissioner of the division fully informed of all matters of importance concerning the efficiency of the police and the state of crime.

1.15. The District Magistrate.—The District Magistrate is the head of the Criminal administration of the district, and the police force is the instrument provided by Government to enable him to enforce his authority and fulfill his responsibility for the maintenance of law and order. The police force in a district is, therefore, placed by law under the general control and direction of the District Magistrate who is responsible that it carries out its duties in such a manner that effective protection is afforded to the public against lawlessness and disorder.

In the exercise of this control the District Magistrate is required to inspect police stations. He shall exercise no executive authority in matters which concern solely the internal administration and training of the force, or in questions of discipline as between police officers and their departmental superiors, but his general control extends to all other matters. In all that affects the relations between the police and the public or the keeping of the public peace, the district Magistrate must be consulted and his orders complied with.

He may (a) required the Superintendent to furnish him with any documents relating to the conduct of any subordinate enrolled police officer in any case in which the conduct or character of such police officer is likely to affect his dealings with the public or the prevention and delection of crime; (b) direct the Superintendent to enquire into any allegation of misconduct or neglect of duty on the part of any subordinate enrolled police officer in any case in which such misconduct or neglect of duty affects, or is likely to affect such officer's dealings with the public, or the prevention and detection of crime, and to submit the record to superior police authority; and (c) direct the Superintendent to furnish information on any matter connected with crime, the criminal classes, the prevention of disorder or the distribution of the police force, or on any other matter not connected solely with the internal administration of the force.

In exercising his powers of control, the District Magistrate should avoid doing anything to weaken the authority of the Superintendent, All communications between the District Magistrate and the police shall, whenever possible, be conveyed through, and all instructions and orders to them shall similarly be issued from, the Superintendent.

Note.—The above rule covers the position of District Magistrates in relation to the railway police. The District Magistrate has no departmental authority over such police, but his responsibility for the criminal administration of his district includes that portion of the railway police jurisdiction which lies within it. He has, therefore, the same authority to call for information and to inspect police stations which the has in respect of the district police, and the same interest in the prevention, detection and prosecution of railway crime as in the case of district crime.

1.16. Duties of Superintendent towards District Magistrate.—The primary duty of the Superintendent of Police is to afford the District Magistrate the utmost possible assistance, both himself and through the police force under his command in the preservation of the peace and the prevention or detection of crime. He shall keep in close and constant personal touch with the District Magistrate and shall keep him fully and promptly informed, both by personal conference and by written reports, of all matters relating to crime and public order. While it is his duty to initiate action by the police in such matters, he must keep the District Magistrate informed and be guided by his orders.

The Superintendent of Police shall keep the District Magistrate informed of his movements generally when away from headquarters, and shall conform to his wishes should the District Magistrate, for reasons connected with the criminal administration of the district, require the Superintendent of Police to proceed to any place in the District or to remain at headquarters at any time.

1.17. Authority of District Magistrate In regard to posting etc.—All postings, removals and transfers of officers-in-charge of police stations within a district, shall be made all the Superintendent with the approval of the District Magistrate.

If the District Magistrate considers the presence of a police officer of or below the rank of Sub-Inspector prejudicial to the welfare of the locality in which he is posted, he may direct his transfer elsewhere within the district. In the case of dissatisfaction with the work or conduct of officers above the rank of Sub-Inspector. District Magistrate shall communicate their complaint to the Deputy Inspector-General of the range.

1.18. Sub-divisional and Subordinate Magistrates authority of.—The authority of a sub-divisional or a subordinate Magistrate over the police is strictly limited to the powers given him by law in the exercise of his judicial functions. Any adverse comments on the proceedings of the police, which he may make, shall be communicated to the superintendent through the District Magistrate. Similarly, if he considers that any police officer should be called on to explain his conduct, he shall report the facts of the case to the District Magistrate, who will take such action as he considers necessary.

1.19. Sub-divisional and subordinate Magistrates-Co-operation with.—Sub-divisional and sub-ordinate Magistrates are held strictly responsible, under the control of the District Magistrate, for the maintenance, of the peace of the area which is made over to their charge; through they have no extra-judicial authority over the police, they are not merely judges. The law gives them many more powers than those required for hearing cases, and they are interested in every crime in their jurisdiction from the moment of its commission. The maintenance of law and order and the suppression of crime depend upon the joint efforts of the public, the magistracy and the police, and not upon the energy of any one of these alone. The most intimate and friendly co-operation between the police and the magistracy as a whole, and between particular magistrates and the police stationed in the area of their jurisdiction, is essential. Superintendents of Police must encourage such cooperation by every means and must sternly check all contrary tendencies. Gazetted officers and upper subordinates should cultivate friendly personal relations with all magistrates with whom their work brings them in contact, and every opportunity should be taken to keep magistrates informed of the state of crime in their ilaqas. Conferences between magistrates and police officers, at which difficulties on either side can be discussed and remedies devised, should be encouraged; police officers coming in with challans should frequently take the opportunity of obtaining an interview with the ilaqa Magistrate and discussing with him the state of crime in their jurisdictions; and prosecuting officer, who for a valuable link between the investigating officers and the magistracy should be instructed to pass on to magistrates any information of interest of importance regarding criminal matters of which they may be aware. (See also rules 21.1 and 21.2)

Note.—The remarks of the Indian Police Commission, 1902-03, on the subject of relations between the police and Magistrates are published as Appendix 1.19.

1.20. Rights of sub-divisional and subordinate magistrates to inspect police records.—Sub-divisional and subordinate magistrates are not authorized to inspect police stations or to record remarks or criticisms in inspection books; provided that the District Magistrate, with the concurrence of the Deputy Inspector-General, may permit a Sub-divisional Magistrate, who is a senior Assistant Commissioner, to make such inspections, and to record his remarks in the inspection book. A Sub-divisional, or illaqa Magistrate, may, however, in his executive capacity, call for any of the records and registers which deal with crime from a police station, and may request the officer in-charge of a police station, to come to him and explain them. The orders of Government regulating the production of police records in courts of law are contained in rule 27.24.

1.21 Police to obey all orders issued in a judicial capacity.—The Police shall obey and execute all lawful orders issued to them by judicial officers in the exercise of the powers conferred on them by law.

Except for good reasons the boundaries of police stations should not cut across the boundaries of zails.

APPENDIX NO. 1.19

EXTRACT FROM THE REPORT OF THE INDIAN POLICE COMMISSION, 1902-03

124. * * * * * * * *

This is the connection which the law intends to exist between the magistrate empowered to take cognizance of police cases and the police. It involves the first information being sent to this Magistrate, his being able to watch the case from the first, to order investigation where the police are not investigating, or to proceed to take up the case himself, and his being kept in touch with the police investigation up to the very last. His connection with the case is intended to begin with the first information and to continue to the end; throughout he is intended to exercise an intelligent interest in it. These provisions are very generally lost sight of. The intention of the law is defeated when the first information is sent; not as required by section 157 to the Magistrate having jurisdiction, but nominally to the District Magistrate, really to a prosecuting inspector or other official at headquarters, who files it until the case is sent up finally for trial. It is also defeated when the Magistrate assumes what he imagines to be a judicial attitude. And never looks at a paper or takes any interest in the case until it come before him in court, and proceeds to dispose of it with regard only to what is put before him by the parties without any effort to do what more he can to arrive at the truth. A valuable check on police work and valuable powers in criminal administration are thus lost.

125. The intention of the law is that the police and the magistracy should work together, the former investigating the case for the Magistrate, and the latter conducting the magisterial enquiry or trial, weighing the evidence collected by the police, sifting further any points that have been missed or inadequately treated, hearing all that the accused has to say or adduce on his own behalf, and deciding the case in the interest of truth and justice.

* * * * * * * * * *

126. * * * * * * * * *

The courts should be encouraged to take notice of any misconduct on the part of a police officer, or of any reasonable suspicion that he has been guilty of such misconduct. Unless such misconduct is established after hearing any explanation the police officer concerned may have to offer, or unless reference to it is necessary for the elucidation of the case, it is only just to him that no notice of it should be taken in the judgment; but a separate note should be at one forwarded to the District Magistrate, who should pay due attention to it, conducting by competent and impartial agency and enquiry that may be necessary, and absolving from blame any police officer who may after all be found innocent of fault, but taking adequate notice of any misconduct that may be established.

Note.—The principles enunciated in the concluding portion of the above quotation have been accepted by the local Government and are embodied in Chief Court Circular No. 7-3482-G of 19th September, 1903, which reads as follows—

Chief Court Circular No. 7-3482-G, dated the 19th September, 1903
Dated Lahore, the 19th September, 1903

To

All Sessions Judges, District Magistrates and Subordinate Criminal Courts in the Punjab.

The attention of presiding officers of all criminal courts is called to the following extract from the proceedings of His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor of the Punjab in the Home (Police) Department, No. 1632-S, dated 30th August, 1903—

> "The Lieutenant-Governor agrees with the Inspector-General of Police that it is undesirable for Magistrates to make remarks in criminal cases censuring the action of police officers unless such remarks are strictly relevant to the case and the officers concerned have had an opportunity of explaining their action. If remarks to which exception can be taken come to the notice of the Inspector-General of Police, they should be referred for the orders of the Lieutenant-Governor, who will invite the attention of the Hon'ble Judges of the Chief Court to any case in which action can appropriately be taken."

The Hon'ble Judges trust that all courts will be careful in future to observe the rule laid down in these remarks. District Magistrates should themselves take whatever action seems desirable in any case coming to their notice in which the spirit of the rule has been infringed by any court subordinate to them.

CHAPTER 2

ESTABLISHMENTS

PERMANENT ESTABLISHMENT

2.1. Permanent establishment how fixed.—The permanent establishment of a district is fixed on a careful calculation of the actual number of men required for fixed duties plus the percentage approved by Government as a reserve to provide for casualties and training in the various ranks. The establishment of each district is shown in a distribution statement in Form 2.1, issued by the Inspector-General.

2.2. Fixed duties.—(1) The term "fixed duties" includes—

A. Cantonment and city police.

B. Rural police stations and their subordinate posts.

C. Headquarters establishment; guards; escorts; specialists (e.g., traffic staff); armed reserves, and mounted police.

D. Office and court duties.

(2) Under division A the establishment required shall be calculated separately for (1) the investigation and station house staff (2) the watch and ward staff. No General scale can be laid down. In calculating the investigation and station house strength the principles by which the strength of rural police stations is fixed (sub-rule 3 below) shall by followed as far as possible, but additional provision will frequently be necessary for duties such as telephone orderlies, extra clerical staff, detective staff, a permanent lock-up guard, etc. In estimating the beat staff it is necessary to plot out on a map after close study of local conditions, the number of fixed points (other than special traffic points) day and night beats, and patrols required for each town or cantonment. Careful consideration shall be given to economizing men by providing intermittent patrols instead of fixed points of beats, and by providing means of locomotion to enable a few men to cover a considerable area, whenever possible. When the number of beats, etc., has been fixed, the establishment necessary to furnish them shall be calculated on the basis of every man performing eight hours duty in each period of twenty-four hours. On this basis, the necessary calculations can be made for, and rotation of duties fixed between, day and night duties, duties lasting throughout the twenty-four and intermittent duties. Supervision over the watch and ward staff shall be provided at the rate of 1 head constables to every 10 constables; 1 assistant sub-inspector to every 5 head constables and 1 sub-inspector to every 100 constables. No ratio between police and population is prescribed, except that in the case of towns with a population of over 30,000 the total strength of police for watch and ward should not ordinarily exceed on constable to every 450 inhabitants. In each case local conditions, such as the volume of commercial activity, the importance and frequency of fairs and festivals, the general criminality of the neighbourhood and the like must be considered.

(3) The strength of rural police stations (division B) is based mainly on the incidence of crime. A normal police station is held to be one registering an average of seventy-five cases a year. For such a police station the minimum staff shall be 1 sub-inspector, 1 assistant sub-inspector, 1 head constables (clerk) and 12 foot constables. In police stations, where crime is very light the number of constables may be reduced to ten. For every fifty cases above the normal figure shown to be the annual average of a police station, the staff shall be increased by 1 assistant sub-inspector and 2 constables. This standard calculation may be varied for adequate reasons in special cases. The staff of outposts shall be calculated strictly in accordance with the duty it is required to perform.

(4) In division C, headquarter establishment shall be calculated in exact detail of authorized posts to be filed. Under this heading shall be included all enrolled personnel of the Lines establishment, instructors, orderlies, of all descriptions, and upper sub-ordinates, who do not come under any other division. Guards shall be calculated at the actual strength required to form each guard, four constables being allotted to each sentry post, the number of constables allotted to each sentry post being fixed in accordance with rule 18.5 (5), and a second head constables being provided for each guard which furnishes more than two sentries. The strength required for escorts shall be calculated on the scales laid down in Chapter XVIII in relation to the average demands in the district for treasure and prisoner escorts, other than the escorting of under-trial prisoners to and from the courts. Provision may be made, if necessary, for escort at sub-divisions as well as at headquarters. The staff of specialists shall include the special detective staff or traffic staff and such other personnel as may be authorized for particular duties not included in any other division. The strength required for traffic duties shall be calculated on the lines prescribed in sub-rule (2) above for watch and ward duties; other special staff shall be calculated in strict accordance with actual duties to be performed.

(5) Court and office duties (division D) shall be calculated according to the actual number of posts to be filled both at district headquarters and at sub-divisions and other magisterial headquarters on the scale prescribed by Police Rules or other competent authority. In addition, establishment shall be provided, on the scale prescribed in Chapter XVIII and on the basis of the average daily number, for the escort of under-trial prisoners to and from the courts, and the guarding of such prisoners in court, at district headquarter and all other places where such escorts are permanently required.

(6) In the calculation of fixed duties no provision shall be made for reserves, or for reliefs otherwise than as provided in the foregoing sub-rules. Deficiencies in strength of short duration shall be met by curtailment of duties; those of longer duration caused by leave, other than casual leave, resignations, etc., shall be made good from the reserves referred to in rule 2.3 below.

2.3. Reserves.—Reserves in the various ranks are fixed to provide for casualties and training. Reserves in the ranks of gazetted officers are included in the cadres, as fixed by the Secretary of the State and Government of India. The reserve in the rank of sergeants is fixed at 10 per cent, of the sanctioned number of European inspectors and sergeants; that in the rank of sub-inspectors at 15 per cent of the sanctioned number of Indian Inspectors and sub-inspectors; that in the rank of head constables at 14 per cent, of the sanctioned number of assistant sub-inspectors and head constables and that in the rank of constable at 16.5 per cent of the number of constables sanctioned for fixed duties. The strength of armed reserves and mounted police is fixed for each district in accordance with the orders of the Provincial Government.

2.4. Authorized duties.—In calculating establishments every duty for which proper authority exists shall be included, and authority shall be obtained from the Inspector-General for any duty the necessity of which can be established, if it is not already authorized. Police shall on no account be supplied, except as provided in rule 2.16 or for other emergent and purely temporary occasions, for duties which are not so authorized.

2.5. Permanent additions to the ordinary force.—All proposals for the revision of establishment shall be submitted officially through (1) the District Magistrate, (2) Deputy Inspector-General of Police, (3) Commissioner and (4) the Inspector-General of Police for the orders of Government A proposition statement in Civil Account Form No.5 shall be submitted in cases which relate to a general revision of establishment or which cannot be set out clearly without it. Proposals for minor changes in establishment are required to be accompanied only by statements showing the increase or reduction in the annual cost, which the proposal involves.

2.6. Method of submitting proposals.—(1) Proposals shall be accompanied by a copy of the distribution statement-Form 2.1 and a concise and comprehensive statement showing the object of the proposed revision and the date from which it is intended that it shall have effect. Whenever the figures for the reserve represent less than the percentages prescribed in rule 2.3 calculated on the revised establishment, application shall be made for the necessary increase to bring up the reserve to the authorized scale. In the case of proposals for the reduction of establishment reserve shall be as in rule 2.5. above.

(2) Proposals affecting upper and lower subordinates shall be submitted on separate forms.

2.7. Initial and annual charges.—In all applications for revision of establishment due provision shall be made for initial charges of Rs. 200 in the case of each upper subordinate and Rs. 10 in case of each lower subordinate on account of clothing; and Rs. 15 on account of beds and boxes in the case of each lower subordinate added to the strength. Provision shall further be made for the following annual charges—

(1) Clothing allowances, at Rs. 25 for each upper subordinate and Rs. 8 for each head constables and constable.

(2) Equipment allowance, at Rs. 2 for each head constables and constable.

(3) Horse equipment allowance, at Rs. 7 for each mounted head constables and constable.

(4) Rewards, at Rs. 1 for each enrolled police officer.

(5) Other contingent expenditure at 10 per cent on the salary of the proposed establishment.

(6) Other necessary incidental expenditure, e.g., rent of quarters, as in the case of the railway police.

2.8. Calculating rates of pay and grades.—In calculating the cost of proposed revision of establishment the pay of appointments shall be established at the mean rate of pay of the time scale of the rank concerned. In the case of ranks for which selection grades are authorised such proportion of proposed new appointments shall be shown in each of such grades as may be required to maintain the authorized percentages thereof. In the case of proposals for reduction of establishment similar grades shall be made. The allotment of posts to selection grades shall be made in district offices for the rank of constable, in range offices for the rank of sub-Inspectors and in the Central Police Officer for other ranks.

PART II

ADDITIONAL POLICE

2.9. Additional police under sections 13 and 14.—(1) Sections 13 and 14 of the Police Act V of 1861, regulate the employment of police officer at the cost of individuals, and the appointment of police forces in the neighbourhood of railways and other works. Such police are designated "Additional Police", whether extra policemen in excess of the regular establishment are enlisted or not.

(2) If extra men are enlisted they shall be deemed part of the district police force and shall, if suitable and eligible, be absorbed in the regular establishment as vacancies occur, being replaced by new enlistments, who are subject to discharge on reduction of additional police.

(3) Superintendents are required to give early information to Deputy Inspectors-General of their inability to provide for additional police coming under reduction in order that arrangements may be made to absorb them in other districts where vacancies may exist.

2.10. General Rules.—(1) Government undertakes no responsibility in respect of persons or property protected by additional police, neither shall police officers be deemed responsible for the contents of buildings, boxes and the like committed to their charge.

(2) Additional police shall not be supplied to guard or escort treasure or valuable property unless proper arrangements to the satisfaction of the Superintendent are made for its safety, neither shall they be supplied for the protection of buildings, boxes, and the like, which are not securely locked or fastened.

(3) The duties of the police in regard to the protection of property shall be confined to the watching of outer locks and fastenings and to the prevention of unauthorized access to them. The keys of locks shall not be entrusted to the police.

(4) Whenever additional police are supplied the Superintendent shall ensure that proper accommodation is provided by the applicant.

(5) They shall be furnished for police duties only, and in such number as the Superintendent may deem necessary in regard to the duties to be performed, and the Superintendent shall at the same time arrange to recover the cost as laid down in Chapter X and bills shall be prepared in Form 10.21.

2.11. Additional police supplied to private persons or corporate bodies.— (1) Additional police applied for by private persons, corporate bodies, or commercial companies, shall be supplied or not at the discretion of the Superintendent, subject to the general directions of the magistrate of the district. Applications shall be made in Form 2.11 (1) A or B according to the purpose for which they are required.

If necessary, extra police shall be enrolled for this purpose.

(2) Additional police may not be given under this rule without payment in full and in advance.

2.12. Requisite police arrangements to be makes at all times.—Whenever police arrangements are necessary in the interests of law and order, or to maintain the public peace, police must be supplied in such numbers as the Superintendent of Police shall consider sufficient, irrespective of whether a private application has been submitted.

2.13. Supply of police under section 13.—(1) When police arrangements are required for the maintenance of order, and protection of property on behalf of the promoters of private gatherings or entertainments, such as marriages, social functions, race meetings, etc., such promoters shall be invited to apply in Form 2.11 (1) A or B for additional police at their own cost under section 13 of the Police Act. If the Superintendent of Police, after consulting the District Magistrate if necessary, considers such additional police necessary over and above such force of police as he may consider sufficient on public grounds under rule 2.12 above, he shall recover from the applicant charges on the scale given in sub-rule (2) below, and shall supply police accordingly. Bills shall be prepared in Form 10.21.

(2) The scale of charges referred to above is as follows—

	Rs.	A.	P.
Inspector	17	0	0	per day of five hours for per night of four hours.
Sub-inspector	10	0	0	Ditto
Assistant Sub-inspector	8	0	0	Ditto
Head Constable	7	0	0	Ditto
Constable	6	0	0	Ditto

If the duty lasts more than five hours per day or four hours per night, relief will be provided and double rates charged.

(3) All sums recovered under this rule shall be credited to the head XXIII–police collection of payments for services rendered receipt on account of additional police under sections 13, 14 and 15 of Police Act 5 of 1861 and at the end of the month, recovery shall be made from the treasury on special additional police pay bills for disbursement to the actual police officers, in accordance with the principles laid down in Inspector-General's letter No. 106/S/95-4-B-27-A, dated the 3Ist May, 1928, namely that remuneration shall only be given when the extra duties performed involve less than 24 hours absence from normal duty. Thus if a Constable is deputed to attend a private function, such as a wedding, which involves his absence from normal duty throughout the whole of one working day, say from sunrise to midnight, he will not be considered as having performed over-time duty and will be entitled to extra remuneration, but should the duty involve his absence from sunrise to sunset of the following day, he will not be considered as on over-time duty and will be entitled to no remuneration in addition to his pay. Superintendents may, however, use their discretion in dealing with cases in which, in their opinion, the 24 hour rule cannot in fairness be applied.

(4) In deciding when to supply police at the public expense, and when to charge the promoters of a particular function, Superintendents shall be guided by the general principle that the regular police establishment is required to perform all the duties of maintaining public order, which fall within the scope of section 31 of the Police Act. When special arrangements are necessary or desired over and above those which the general public interests demand, the person or persons responsible for the assembly concerned, should pay for additional police. The law does not permit of compulsion being exercised in this matter, but Superintendents may tender their advice, and indicate that no more police than are necessary to prevent obstruction to the general public will be provided unless paid for.

Note.—Government has ordered that "if any sect requires, in religious processions organized by them, the assistance of the police to maintain order, to such an extent as to necessitate extra expenditure by bringing a larger police force together, or otherwise, the cost should invariably be charged to the persons requiring the extra police protection and the same should be paid before the procession is allowed to take place" (Home Department No. 1073 of 14th March, 1878). This order does not mean that charges shall be levied for the supply of police 10 processions of ancient and regulary exercised custom in cases where the supply is not in excess of that given for a series of years, and the practices has been to give such supply for a long period without charge.

Rule 2.13. for Punjab

If the Superintendent of Police, after consulting the District Magistrate if necessary, considers such additional police necessary over and above such force of police as he may consider sufficient on public grounds under rule 2.12 above, he shall recover from the applicant charges on the scale given in sub-rule (2) below, and shall supply police accordingly. Bills shall be prepared in Form 10.21.

(2) The scale of charges referred to above is as follows—

	Rs.	A.	P.

Sub-Inspector	9	0	0	Ditto
Assistant Sub-Inspector	5	0	0	Ditto
Head Constable	4	0	0	Ditto
Foot Constable	3	0	0	Ditto

If the duty lasts more than five hours per day or four hours per night, relief will be provided and double rates charged.

(3) All sums recovered under this rule shall be credited to the head XXIII–police collection of payments for services rendered receipt on account of additional police under sections 13, 14 and 15 of Police Act 5 of 1861 and at the end of the month, recovery shall be made from the treasury on special additional police pay bills for disbursement to the actual police officers, in accordance with the principles laid down in Inspector-General's letter No. 106/S/95-4-B-27-A, dated the 3Ist May, 1928, namely that remuneration shall only be given when the extra duties performed involve less than 24 hours absence from normal duty. Superintendents may, however, use their discretion in dealing with cases in which, in their opinion, the 24 hour rule cannot in fairness be applied.

(4) In deciding when to supply police at the public expense, and when to charge the promoters of a particular function, Superintendents shall be guided by the general principle that the regular police establishment is required to perform all the duties of maintaining public order, which fall within the scope of section 31 of the Police Act. This order does not mean that charges shall be levied for the supply of police 10 processions of ancient and regulary exercised custom in cases where the supply is not in excess of that given for a series of years, and the practices has been to give such supply for a long period without charge.*

2.14. Supply of police under section 14.—Cases coming within the scope of section 14 of the Police Act, 1861, must be referred through (1) District Magistrate, (2) Deputy Inspector-General of Police and (3) Commissioner, to the Inspector-General of Police for order.

2.15. Supply of police free of charge in emergencies.—Superintendents may at their discretion supply additional police to departments and offices of Government from the regular police establishment in cases of emergency and for duties of a strictly temporary and non-recurrent nature without charge.

2.16. Entertainment of and charges for extra establishments.—If the police are required for any lengthy period, application shall be made to the Inspector-General for the entertainment of extra men with the sanction of the Provincial Government. The charges for additional police so supplied, when permission is given to entertain extra men, shall be in accordance with the rules in Chapter X except that no charge shall be made for pensions.

2.16A. Payment of the extra cost of Police employed at fairs managed by local bodies.—Ordinarily the cost of police deputed for duty at fairs managed by local bodies is met from provincial revenues, but in the case of important fairs which bring in a profit of Rs. 5000 or more, the travelling allowance of the police employed and the cost of temporary accommodation and transport, etc., but not the pay, shall be recovered from the local body concerned.

In the case of such fairs managed by District Boards the Superintendent of Police shall recover the amount in direct communication with the District Board concerned. District Boards can meet such charges under clause (a) of sub-section 2 of section 37 of the Punjab District Boards' Act, 1883.

In the case of fairs managed by Municipal Committees, the Superintendent of Police shall submit a detail of such charges to the Inspector-General of Police who will arrange for their recovery through the Ministry of Local Self-Government under clause (d) of sub-section (1) of section 52 of the Punjab Municipal Act, 1911. All sums recovered on this account will be credited to Government under the head "XXIII – Police-Collection of payments for services rendered."

2.17. Additional police under section 15.—(1) Section 15 of the Police Act, 1861, regulates the quartering of police in disturbed or dangerous tracts. The orders contained in sub-rules 2.9 (2) and (3) apply to them.

(2) Applications for the location of such police shall be made in Form 2.17 (2). The Superintendent making the application shall see that all the information required by the form is filled in and shall submit it to the Inspector-General through (1) District Magistrate, (2) Deputy Inspector-General and (3) Commissioner, for the orders of Government.

Note.—Application for the exemption of individuals (as opposed to classes) from payment of additional police tax need not be submitted to Government through Commissioners of Divisions.

2.18. Particulars to be given in application.—(1) Application for the location of police in disturbed or dangerous tracts shall be accompanied by—

(b) Particulars of individuals or classes of inhabitants, if any, whom it is proposed to exempt, with reasons for such exemption.

(c) The tehsildar's report as to the ability of the community concerned to bear the charge.

(d) A full explanation of the grounds for the proposal and the manner in which it is proposed to employ the police asked for. When the proposal affects several villages the explanation should make clear the grounds for including each.

(2) The strength of the police proposed shall in all cases be sufficient to secure the objects aimed at in the proposal, and provision shall be made for an officer in command of the detachment of sufficient status to exercise adequate control. If the financial capacity of the community is insufficient to pay for a force which can exercise effective control, other methods such as action under the preventive sections of the law or under the Criminal Tribes Act must be resorted to.

2.19. Location of additional police under section 15.—When a notification appears in the Punjab Gazette ordering the location of an additional police post in a disturbed or dangerous area, the Superintendent concerned shall, on receipt of such gazette, take immediate measures for the establishment of such post, and shall report to the Inspector-General, the date on which it is established, sending copy to the District Magistrate concerned.

2.20. Rules for additional police posts.—(1) The Superintendent shall frame rules for the guidance of the additional Police, with special reference to the object for which they are located, and shall define the local area of the post. Such rules shall be submitted through the District Magistrate to the Deputy Inspector-General of Police for approval.

(2) An additional police post shall be considered an outpost subordinate to the police station in the jurisdiction of which it is situated.

2.21. Continuance of additional police posts.—(1) Recommendations for the continuance of an additional police post for a further period shall be submitted in Form 2.21 (1) through the channel prescribed in sub-rule 2.17(2), so as to reach the Deputy Inspector-General at least two months before the date when section for the post is due to expire.

(2) Full reasons for the continuance of the post shall be given, and a note of all crime committed within the jurisdiction since its establishment shall be included.

2.22. Additional police reserves.—(1) The parties charged with the cost of additional police enrolled under sections 13, 14 or 15, Act V of 1981 must also pay the cost of a reserve calculated at one-sixth of the number of Constables required for fixed duties. This charge enables a reserve to be maintained against casualties in the additional police, which should otherwise throw an undue burden on the contingency reserves of the regular force.

(2) A reserve equal to one-sixth of the total number of additional police constables sanctioned in each districts from time to time shall be enrolled and kept at the headquarters of the district. This reserve must be increased or reduced proportionately to increases and decreases in the strength of additional police.

(3) Deputy Inspectors-General are authorized to control the additional Police reserves of all districts in their ranges, utilizing reduced in one district to meet increases in another, or providing trained men for newly sanctioned additional police detachments by transfer from reserves of other districts, the men so transferred being replaced by new enrolments in their district.

(4) Deputy Inspector-General shall arrange for a careful check in their offices of impending fluctuations, and no reduction of additional police reserves shall be carried out by Superintendents without a perior reference to the Deputy Inspector-General.

(5) When a force of additional police is enrolled for a short time or is so small that a reserve is necessary, no reserve constable shall be enrolled and the surcharge of one-sixth shall not be made.

2.23. Extra kits for additional police.—The Deputy Inspector-General may sanction a fixed number of extra kits and sufficient equipment to be permanently maintained in each district for additional police. Expenditure under this rule shall be charged to the Clothing and equipment Fund.

2.24. Thikri Pahara and special police under section 17.—(1) In any village in which crime is prevalent the Superintendent of police may approach the District Magistrate to introduce the provisions of the Village Patrol Act No. VIII of 1918. It must be borne in mind, however, that Thikri Pahara is essentially an emergency as opposed to an every day routine measure. When imposed on villagers as a continuous routine it becomes irksome and is consequently perfunctorily performed. The compulsory provisions of Punjab Act VIII should only be employed as a last resource.

(2) When in any place or part of a district conditions exist or are apprehended such as are described in section 17, Act V of 1861, the Superintendent of Police shall approach the District Magistrate for the appointment of special police under that section.

(3) Non-officials employed for purpose of maintaining order and on the duties of special police shall ordinarily be enrolled under section 17, Act V of 1861, but, where a sudden crisis renders recourse to assistance from the ordinary civil population a matter of immediate necessity in the public interest, the aid of respectable and trustworthy persons may be enlisted forthwith in the maintenance of law and order without enrolment, if the danger and urgency of the situation, in the opinion of the District Magistrate, justifies their employment without the formality of enrolment.

The rules regarding enrolment, discipline etc., of such special police are given in Appendix No. 2.24 (3).

RULES FOR THE ENROLMENT AND EMPLOYMENT OF SPECIAL POLICE OFFICERS

1. When the entertainment of special police officers becomes necessary, or desirable, efforts should be made to appoint volunteers under section 17 of the Police Act (V of 1861) up to the number and in the various ranks required. No unwilling person should be appointed of unless sufficient volunteers cannot be found.

2. Under section 17 of Act V of 1861, residents of a disturbed area may be appointed special police officers of any rank, but no such police officer shall be appointed to a rank equal to that of the senior officer of the regular police present on the spot.

3. Special police officers shall be subordinate to and be under the orders of, the senior officer of the regular police present on the spot.

4. Special police officers should ordinarily be chosen from among the respectable, loyal, and influential persons of the neighbourhood whose authority is likely to be respected by the masses and who are likely to use their influence to prevent disturbances. It is not desirable to choose ring-leaders of contentions factions unless such ring-leaders are really influential persons and in no case should a special police officer be appointed as a punitive measure.

5. When special police officers are appointed, the more influential and useful from amongst them may be appointed to senior rank above the others, and be required to enforce discipline as laid down in police rules among the special police officers appointed under their command.

6. Whenever possible special police officers of good social standing should be encouraged to bring with them their tenants and dependants, who will ordinarily be enrolled as special police officers of the lower subordinate grades, a post being given to the special police officer through whose agency the lower subordinate are enrolled, subject to the provisions of rule 2 foregoing.

7. Special police officers of the lower subordinate ranks will ordinarily be armed with batons or lathis at the discretion of the Superintendent of Police.

8. An armlet or brassard with the letter S.P. and a Serial No. should be issued to such police officer other than those appointed to rank as upper subordinates.

Note.—Special police officers of the rank of upper subordinate may, with advantage, be given a Sam Browne belt with a revolver or sword if such articles are available.

9. A special police officer of the rank of upper subordinate will be entitled to receive all courtesies due to an officer of his rank, but his authority will extend only to special police officers under his orders and not to officers of the regular police. Influential persons of superior social standing who may be enrolled should, as a rule, be employed on staff and supervising duties and given relatively higher rank than others of lower status similarly enrolled. Such persons should not have menial of unreasonable duties assigned to them, but the object should be to employ them in the manner best suited to make their personal influence effective.

10. Discipline.—The requirements in the respect should usually be light. Any conditions of the office which might be regarded by local residents as offensive and unnecessarily irksome should not be insisted on. Physical drill, for instance, would in most cases be inappropriate and the saluting of petty officers unnecessary, while parades or attendance at the police station, when necessary, should be so regulated as to cause as little inconvenience as possible.

11. A copy of sections 17 to 21 inclusive of Police Act (V of 1861) and also a copy of rules relating to the enrolment, etc., of special police officers shall be given to each special police officer as soon after his enrolment as may be possible.

12. Superintendent of Police entertaining special police will arrange for their feeding by the purchase and distribution of food according to the following scale—

1-½ lbs. atta, or in lieu rice 1½ lbs.
4 oz. fresh meat (or in lieu ¾ oz. gur).
½ oz. Salt.
1 oz gur.
Spices
- 1/6 oz. chillies
- 1/6 oz. turmeric
- 1/6 oz. garlic

— or 1½ oz. in all as available

4 oz, dhal.
½ oz. tea.
2 oz. ghee.
1½ lbs. fuel.

or by cash payment of the cost of these articles at a rate to be notified by the Inspector-General when special police are entertained.

3.15. Rents treated as police contingent charges.—The rent of any building or land hired for public purposes shall be paid under the authority of the Inspector-General. A certificate from the Executive Engineer, as required by clause (15) (a) of Appendix 5 of the Civil Account Code, shall be attached to the contingent bill containing the first charge in each year.

If an officer does not carry with it any responsibility for the rent of a building the supplementary certificate will be blank and will be signed with a line drawn across it. 3.18. Other accommodation for office.—(1) When, in consequence of no suitable public building being available, a police officer provides accommodation for his office in his private residence, that proportion of the rent which is assessed by the Executive Engineer as being the rent of the accommodation occupied as an office may be claimed from Government.

The house rent allowances authorized by rule 10.76 are, except in the case of the proportion of married Constables therein laid down, intended to provide accommodation for officers themselves, for whom accommodation suitable to their rank is not a available in Government buildings. It is the policy of Government, however, to provide married quarters for upper and lower subordinates in headquarters lines and police stations to the extent which funds permit and up to such proportion of the total establishment as may, from time to time, be fixed as reasonable. At present married quarters are provided in lines for the reserve inspector (where sanctioned), prosecuting inspector, district inspector at headquarters, lines officer and, as far as possible, forsub-inspectors on the sanctioned strength of the lines and office establishment. The provision for assistant sub-inspectors and lower subordinates is approximately 10 per cent of the establishment of those ranks permanently posted to duties at headquarters, other than headquarter police stations. At police stations married quarters are being provided as funds permit for the officer in charge, the assistant sub-inspectors permanently sanctioned for the station and 2/5th of the sanctioned establishment of head constables and constables.

3.20. Allotment of quarters and grant of house rent allowance to constables.—constables and head constables stationed at headquarters of districts, desiring Government family quarters or house rent in lieu thereof, shall apply in writing to the Superintendent of Police stating where they are posted, the duty on which they are employed, and the numbers of the members of their family to be accommodated. Such applications shall be forwarded through their immediate superior officer, not below the rank of sub-inspector, who shall endorse his recommendations. Oil.—Service oil is carried in the oil bottle for which a recess in the butt is provided. No other form of lubricant is to be allowed to remain in the bore. Paraffin, though an effective agent in removing rust, will not prevent it.

Stick Cleaning Chamber.—Made of wood about a foot long, at one end a slot is cut, the other end is cut square to allow a grip to be taken and the stick to be turned by hand. A piece of dry flannelette is placed in the slot and wound round the stick is covered. The stick is then passed through the bolt way into the chamber and turned round servel times. This is the only effective method of cleaning the chamber.

Cleaning.—Before firing.—All traces of oil will be removed from the bore and the action wiped with an oily rag.

After firing.—

(i) Remove the bolt.

(ii) Pour about 5 to 6 pints of boiling water through the bore from breech to muzzle, using a funnel, point inserted into the chamber.

(iii) Insert the weight of pullthough, through the bolt hole of body then draw straight the barrel from breech to muzzle in one continuous motion. The rifle to be held by the left hand with the toe of the butt on the ground, and the barrel in line with the direction of pull to avoid the cord rubbing the side of the muzzle, otherwise it will cause a groove to be worn where it rubs against muzzle; this is known as "cord-wear" and affects accuracy and serviceability.

(iv) To be repeated as (iii) untill the rag is removed without sign of fouling on it.

(v) Clean the breech with a stick cleaning chamber.

(vi) Wipe over the face of bolt, clean gas escapes and bayonet boss.

(vii) If bayonets have been fixed during firing the bayonet will be carefully wiped before it is returned to the scabbard. All metal parts to be carefully wiped over and oiled.

(viii) The barrel to be pulled through with a piece of oily flannelette.

The bore will be found to require special care during the three days following firing—

For buckshot or when necessary to remove bad "leading" or rust—

(i) To be treated with boiling water as already detailed.

(ii) The pullthrough to have an oiled gauze wire 4" × 1½" attached. Insert weight through the bolt way of body (care being taken to ensure the gauze enters chamber correctly and does not jam) and draw straight through the barrel; from breech to muzzle.

To be repeated if necessary by packing the gauze, until all "leading or rust is removed.

(iii) Followed by a piece of dry flannelette and then an oily piece to the usual way.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR THE CLEANING OF .303 RIFLES

(a) Cleaning Materials.—The pullthrough, which will be kept in the butt trap of the rifle, is provided with three loops. The first loop (the one nearest the weight) is for the wire gauze, the second for the flannette, and the third for the purpose of removing the pullthrough should it break or get jammed in the bore.

If a jam occurs no attempt should be made to remove the obstruction, but the rifle should be taken to the armourer.

(i) The purrthrough will be drawn through the barrel from breech to muzzle in should be taken to the armourer.

(ii) The cord must be drawn straght through and not allowed to rub against the muzzle of the bore, otherwise it will cause a groove to be worn where it rubs; this is known as "cord wear" and affects the accuracy of the rifle.

(b) Flannelette.—No other form of material will be used for cleaning the bore. For cleaning the bore (or for drying it) after firing a piece of flannelette large enough to fit the bore tightly, 4 inches by 2 inches, will be used. It will be placed in the second loop of the pullthrough and wrapped round the cord.

For oiling the bore a slightly smaller piece of flannelette will be used. If the piece used is too big, the oil will be scraped off as it enters the bore. The oil should be well rubbed, with the fingers, into the flannelette.

(c) Stick ceaning Chamber, made of wood about a foot long; at one end a slot is cut, the other end is cut square to allow a grip to be taken and the stick to be turned by hand. A piece of dry flannelette is placed in the slot and wound round the stick (to ensure that the stick is covered). The stick is then passed through the boltway into the chamber and turned round several times. This is the only effective method of cleaning the chamber.

(d) Wire Gauze, in pieces 2½ inches by 1½ inches, is supplied, but should only be used with the premission of an officer for the purpose of removing hard fouling or rust.

Daily cleaning.—The exterior of the rifle will be cleaned daily and all particles of dirt or dust removed from the gas escapes and crevices. The frictional parts will be kept slightly oiled. The bore will be pulled through with a piece of flannelette until the rag is clean, and immediately re-oiled.

Cleaning before firing.—All traces of oil will be removed from the bore, and the action wiped with an oily rag.

The cartridge and chamber will on no account be oiled before firing, nor will any lubricant be used with a view to facilitate extraction, as such a procedure is liable to injure the rifle.

Cleaning after firing—

(i) Remove all fouling and grease from the bore.

(ii) Pour about 5 or 6 pints of boiling water through the bore from breech to muzzle, using a funnel.

(iii) Thoroughly dry the bore and proceed to clean the rest of the rifle, thus allowing the bore to cool.

(iv) The breech will be cleaned with a stick cleaning chamber.

(v) Special attention will be paid to the face of the bolt, gas escapes and bayonet boss.

(vi) If bayonets have been fixed during firing, the bayonet will be carefully wiped before it is returned to the scabbard.

(vii) All metal parts will be carefully wiped and oiled, after which the barrel will be pulled through with a piece of oily flannelette. The bore will be found to require special care during the three days following firing.

(viii) On active service, where boiling water is not normally available the wire gauze will be used.

(ix) Care must be used to prevent the browning from being rubbed off the rifle, as this is a great preventive against rust.

Cleaning after firing blank.—After firing blank ammunition, special care should be taken that the cleaning is thorough. Although in this case there is no friction between bullet and bore, and so no internal fouling or "sweating", there is greater accumulation of superficial fouling from blank than ball cartridge, because there is no bullet in blank ammunition to scour the fouling left by the preceding round. The firing also is in most cases more prolonged, and a greater interval must usually elapse before the rifle can be thoroughly cleaned. When blank firing precedes practice with ball, the fifles will be carefully cleaned before ball practice commences.

General notes on care of rifle—

(a) When the rifle is not in use, the leaf and slide of the backsight should be lowered.

(b) The mainspring should never be allowed to remain compressed except when the rifle is loaded. The position of the cocking-piece shows whether the mainspring is compressed or not.

(c) The magazine must not be removed from the rifle except for cleaning or other special purpose and, to avoid weakening the spring, cartridges should only be kept in it when necessary. A failure of the spring to raise the platform can usually be overcome by tapping the bottom of the magazine smartly with the palm of the hand. If the failure recurs, the rifle should be taken to the armourer for examination and repair.

(d) The bolts of rifles are not to be exchanged. Each bolt is carefully fitted to its own rifle, so that the parts which take the shock of the explosion have an even bearing, and the use of wrong bolt may affect the accuracy of the rifle. The number stamped on the back of the bolt lever should agree with that stamped on the right front of the body.

(e) No head constables or constable is premitted to take to pieces any portion of the action, except as prescribed for cleaning, nor is he to loosen or tighten any of the screws.

APPENDIX NO. 6.17(A)

RULES TO BE OBSERVED FOR THE PROPER CONTROL AND INSPECTION OF MAGAZINE

(1) The magazine shall be at all times kept scrupulously clean.

(2) A brush or broom shall be kept in the magazine for cleaning out the magazine on each occasion it is opened for the receipt, delivery or inspection of ammunition.

(3) No lights (other than an electric torch) nor smoking shall on any account be allowed inside or in the immediate vicinity of the magazine.

(4) Oiled cotton rags and waste and articles liable to spontaneous ignition shall not be taken into the magazine.

(5) Empty boxes shall not be kept in the magazine, nor any loose packing material.

(6) Boxes of ammunition shall not be thrown down or dragged along the floor, and shall be stacked in wooden trestles. Where there are white ants, the legs of the trestles should rest in shallow copper, lead or brass bowls containing a little water.

(7) If the magazine has a lightning-conductor, it shall be tested at least once a year.

(8) The person in charge of the magazine shall be responsible that the magazine is well and securely locked.

(9) No unauthorized person shall at any time be admitted into the magazine.

(10) The following shall be hung up in the magazine —

APPENDIX NO. 6.17(B)

INSTRUCTIONS FOR THE EXAMINATION AND TEST AND STORAGE OF S.A. AMMUNITION ON CHARGE OF POLICE UNITS

General Instructions—

1. Small arms ammunition may be divided into two categories as follows—

(a) Ammunition in sealed boxes and in open boxes with their labels intact.

(b) Pouch or loose ammunition which cannot be identified by make and date.

Category A.—(a) Ammunition in this category may be considered serviceable without test up to five-years from date of manufacture provided that the boxes are intact and have been subjected to bad storage conditions. The five year limit may be extended indefinitely provided that the ammunition has been used for practice and has given satisfactory result within the last twelve months.

(b) Ammunition over five years old which has not been used for practice within the last twelve months, or ammunition in boxes which appear to have been subjected to adverse storage conditions as indicated by rusty linings, etc., will be examined and subjected to a firing test.

A sample box from each make and date of manufacture will be opened. The cartridges will be examined visually for evidence of verdigris around the cap and other signs of deterioration. Twenty rounds will be fired from each of 2 rifles or muskets into a bank of earth or other safe place to test for missfires, hang fires; split cases, pierced caps bursts' etc.

(c) If the ammunition looks good and fires without failure, it is serviceable.

If the ammunition looks good and gives a misfire, marked hang-fire, pierced cap, burst case, split extending to within one inch of the case, or a detached base disc, a re-test in different weapons will be carried out. If in the re-test, any of the above defects occur, the ammunition is unserviceable. If no defects occur at the re-test, the ammunition is serviceable.

If the ammunition looks doubtful, showing slight verdigris only, and if it passes firing test, it is serviceable. If any defect occurs at the firing test, proved the rifle or musket is known to be above suspicion.

If the ammunition looks bad showing marked verdigris around the cap, is unserviceable.

The examination and test of the sample covers the remaining ammunition of the same make and date except when there is reason to believe that box opened is not representative of the rest. In that case it will be necessary to examine and test the ammunition from each box.

Note 1.—When the number of boxes of one make and date is ten or under, they may be grouped with adjacent dates of the same make provided that the group of dates does not exceed 50 Boxes that the dates do not cover a period of more than 14 days.

Note 2.—The sample will be taken from an opened box if available. If the result is satisfactory the whole group will be sentenced serviceable. If the result is not satisfactory the sentence will only cover the actual box from which the rounds have been taken and a fresh box will be opened and treated as the sample for the group.

Category B.—Loose rounds on charge, other than those obviously doubtful from handling and carriage in pouches, will generally be treated as one group. Representative samples will be examined and 40 fires and the ammunition sentenced as or category A. If there is a large number of loose rounds on charge and some have obviously been subjected to worse treatment than the others they should be bulked into groups according to "condition", each group being tested and sentenced separately.

2. The foregoing is intended to apply particularly to M.H. Rifles and B.L. .476 bore ammunition.

3. Special Instruction for examination of B.L. ".410", ".303" and ".455" revolver ammunition.

(a) The instructions in paragraph 1 apply also to the above mentioned ammunition with the following exceptions—

The casualties that may occur are missfires, hang-fires, pierced caps, below backs, burst cases or spilt cases.

A blow.—back is an escape of gas between the cap and the wall of the cap chamber, if serious, it will be indicated by an escape of gas from the gas escape hole on the left of the barrel body at the moment of firing. The base of the cartridge case will be badly blackened by this casualty.

A burst case is a fractures either at the base or within 1½ inches of the base of the cartridge case. Fractures further forwarded on the case body are know as splits and if only occassional may be ignored. Bursts are to be regarded as serious casualties.

4. When in doubt as to sentence, the matter should be referred to the Chief Ordinance Officer at the nearest Arsenal who will arrange for such test as may be necessary and advise accordingly, or in case to further doubt, refer to the Inspector of Ammunition Kirkee.

5. Storage.—Boxes containing S.A.A. should be kept raised a few inches from the floor by supporting the bottom layer on battens or other suitable supports; they should also be kept a few inches clear of the wall.

The store room should be kept clean and dry, ventilation receiving due attention.

Tin plate linings should not ordinarily be opened until the ammunition is required for use or test.

CHAPTER 7

MOUNTED POLICE

7.1. Composition of Mounted Police.—Mounted Police consist of such number of sub-inspector, head constables and constables as may be sanctioned from time to time.

In addition to their pay they receive horse or camel allowances at rate give in rule of 10.75.

7.2. Mounted officers.—All gazetted and upper subordinate police officers, except assistant sub-inspectors are mounted officers, and are required to maintain standard of efficiency in horsemanship which enable them to perform journeys on horseback and other duties with the mounted police. The Inspector-General may lower this standard or grant complete exemption from it by general or special order in the case of officers appointed solely and permanently for duties which do not involve mounted duty.

All mounted officers are required to maintain saddlery, as prescribed in Chapter V, and a suitable horse, in accordance with the standards laid down in this chapter, at their headquarters and fit for use on duty provided that the Inspector-General may exempt any officer from keeping a horse for so long as he is employed in a post which does not invovle mounted duty and that upper subordinates employed in posts for which no horse allowance is authorized (vide rule 10.74) shall be similarly exempted while so employed. Exemption may also be granted by Inspector-General at his discretion to upper subordinates while employed in Central Investigation Agency cantonment, city or large civil station, provided that Motor Cycle I lieu of a horse is kept.

7.3. Qualifications.—Recruits for the Mounted Police shall be obtained either by direct enlistment of men likely to make good horse or camel sowars or by the voluntary transfer of suitable men from the foot police. Ordinarily only such man shall be taken into the mounted police as have already some knowledge of an aptitude for the management of horses or camels. If such men are not already trained foot police men, they shall required to undergo the same course as is laid down for recruits to the foot police as will as receiving the training laid down in rule 7.5 below.

7.4. Utilization of mounted police.—(1) The chief uses of mounted police are—(a) organized operations against mobile gangs or criminals, (b) patrolling for the prevention of dacoties, highway robbery and the like, (c) the control of crowds and dispersal of disorderly mobs, (d) assistance to the foot police in traffic control, (e) process serving message carrying and escort duty, where conditions are suitable.

(2) Horse police shall ordinarily be employed only on duties coming under classes (a) to (d) above and, for their better training in these duties, are organized in troops. Camel police are unsuitable for duties coming under classes (c) to (d) above, but can often be used to advantage on duties coming under class (e).

(3) Mounted police may be temporarily transferred anywhere in the province by order of the Inspector-General and from one district to another in the same range by order of the Deputy Inspector-General, if the conditions f crime or public order warrant it, or for annual training if proper facilities do not exist in the district to which they are permanently posted. Mounted police shall not be employed on orderly duty but, when not required for training or for duties of the nature specified in sub-rule (1), a mounted constable may be used for the conveyance of urgent messages on particular occasions. Constables mounted on horses shall, however, under no circumstances be required to carry heavy post-bags or parcels.

(4) Subjects to the conditions laid down in the preceding sub-rules Superintendents are empowered to employ the mounted police in their districts at their discretion.

7.5. Training of mounted police.—(1) Mounted police shall be especially taught—

(i) to ride and handle their horses in a horse manlike manner;

(ii) the use of the mounted police baton;

(iii) mounted squad drill;

(iv) to saddle and unsaddle and to groom a horse thoroughly;

(v) stable management, i.e. to keep their horses healthy and in good condition and the stable clean and sanitary;

(v) to lay out their stable gear properly for inspection

(2) For the instruction of mounted police the principles and general system contained in "Cavalry Training 1924", shall be followed, especially the following chapter—

Chapter II, Section 34 to end–formations and drill.

Chapter III, Horse-mastership, stable management, saddlery and minor ailments.

Chapter IV, Equitations

Chapter VIII, Riffle and Revolver drill.

Chapter IX, Section 147 to 164–Mounted troop drill.

Chapter XIV, Section 237, 238 and 244–Marching and march discipline .

Chapter XV Section 256-68 and 263–Field Training.

Note.—A copy of this Manual shall be supplied to Superintendent of districts in which Mounted Police are attached.

They shall also receive special instruction in the efficient performance of the duties specified in rule 7.4 and shall ordinarily be removed from the mounted police If they fail in two consecutive years to reach the standard of first class shots.

(3) Arrangements shall be made when possible for Sub-Inspector and head constables of mounted (horse) police to be attached to cavalry regiments for training as troop and section leaders to the extent covered by sub-rule (2) above.

7.6. Arms.—Mounted Police shall be armed with mounted police batons and rifles M.L.E. .303 and bayonets.

7.7. Animals in possession of mounted police.—Horses or, where ordered by the Inspector-General camels, which are up to the standards laid down in rule 7.17 (3), shall be maintained at the rate of one for each sub-inspector, head constables and mounted Constable of the sanctioned mounted police establishment.

7.8. Mounted Police reserve.—The reserve for the mounted police is embodied in the general reserve of head constables and Constable sanctioned for fixed duties. Horse and camel allowances will be drawn only for the sanctioned effective establishment, exclusive of any reserve, and subject to there being no vacancies in the corresponding establishment of horses or camels. Recruits for the mounted police will be borne on the dismounted reserve until they are absorbed in vacancies in the mounted establishment. Such vacancies shall be filled immediately on their occurrence by transfer from among trained men of the foot police, so that the corresponding horse or camel allowance may be drawn. Men sick or on leave will continue to draw their horse or camel allowances.

7.9. The Chanda Fund.—One General Provincial Chanda Fund shall be maintained under the regulation hereinafter contained.

7.10. Membership of Chanda Fund.—(1) All members of the mounted police shall subscribe to the Chanda fund. Upper subordinates of the foot police, who are required to be mounted on horses and who draw horse allowance accordingly, may become subscribers either on permanent appointment to upper subordinate rank at any time subsequently, but shall not thereafter cease be subscribers so long as they continue to draw horse allowance.

(2) No subscription should be recovered during the period that a member of the mounted police is without a remount and draws conveyance allowance.

(3) Rates of monthly subscription will be published from time to time, in the Police Gazette.

7.11. Chanda deposit.—(1) When a vacancy occurs in the mounted police the man posted to fill it shall pay into the Chanda Fund Rs. 300 or Rs. 250 according as his joining as a horse or a camel-sowar. In the case of man joining as a camel-sowar, the Superintendent may at his discretion allow him to produce his own camel provided (a) that there is a vacancy in the establishment of camels, (b) that the camel produced is up to the standard laid down in rule 7.17 (3).

(2) Such new member of the fund shall, on payment In full of his deposit, or on the acceptance of the camel produced by him, become entitled, subject to his continued payment of his monthly subscription, to be provided with a horse or camel, according to the amount of his deposit, throughout the period of his membership of the fund.

7.12. Refund of Chanda deposit.—When a mounted Police ceases to be a subscriber to the fund he shall receive back from the fund the amount which the deposited on joining it; provided that—

(a) The horse or camel allotted to him at the time of his ceasing to be a member of the fund shall be examined by Chanda Committee (vide rule 7.16 (1)). If such committee is of opinion that such horse or camel has been rendered permanently unfit for police service, or is at the time of examination unfit for police service from injury or illness caused in either case by the misconduct or neglect of the subscriber, it may record a finding that the subscriber should forfeit either the whole or part of his deposit. Such finding shall be submitted to the Deputy Inspector-General, whose order in confirmation or modification thereof shall be final.

(b) If, in the course of his service as a subscriber to the fund, a Chanda Committee shall record a finding that he has been responsible through misconduct or neglect for the death of any horse or camel allotted to him, or for the injury or illness of such animal necessitating its being cast as unfit for police service, he shall, at the time of his ceasing to be a subscriber, forfeit the whole or a part of his deposit according to the final award of the Deputy Inspector-General recorded on such finding.

(c) A subscriber who, on joining the fund, has been permitted to bring his own camel in lieu of paying in deposit shall, if he is still in possession of the same camel or of another camel, produced by himself, have the option when ceasing to be a member of the fund, of either taking away his camel or offering it to the fund. In the latter case the camel shall be examined by a Chanda Committee and shall be accepted and taken over by the fund, provided it is found to be in consideration of its age and length of service, in good condition and to show no sngis of neglect or ill-treatment. If the camel is accepted by the fund, the subscriber shall be paid the amount equivalent to the deposit which he would have been required to make, under the rule in force at the time when he joined the fund, had he not brought his own camel.

(d) The refund of Chanda deposit, to which a mounted policeman dying while a member of the fund would be entitled, shall be credited to his estate in the police deposit fund.

Note.—A subscriber shall, on ceasing to be member, receive not more than the following sums, being the value of the animal which he originally brought to the fund under the rules previously in force—

(2) (a) The Chanda fund shall be under no obligation to take over the horse of an optional subscriber on his death or ceasing to be subscriber, but may do so, if there is vacancy and if the horse offered by the subscriber or his heirs is suitable. In the latter case the amount payable by the fund as refund of the value of the horse shall be governed by the foot-note to rule 7.12.

(b) Optional subscribers shall not be entitled to have their horses fed under the system prescribed in rule 7.24 but the Superintendent may allow any such subscriber to participate in such system, if he is permanently posted in the lines or other place where such feeding arrangements are in force.

(c) The horses of optional subscribers will remain with them when on leaves, or transfer.

(d) An optional subscriber requiring a remount may purchase one privately or through a purchasing officer (rule 7.17 (2). The loss or total disablement must further have resulted from risk of an exceptional nature such as might be incurred during the pursuit of raiders or long journeys on escort duty.

This rule is inapplicable to loss or disablement caused by accident incurred in the course of ordinary training or duty. The journey must have been carried out under the orders of the Superintendent of Police or other superior authority. Compensation is also admissible when death or destruction is the result of inoculation of other prophylactic treatment carried out by a property qualified person.

The fact shall be testified to by the Superintendent of Police and, if possible, by a veterinary officers. Compensation will be awarded on the order of the Inspector-General of Police. Compensation will be credited to the Chanda Fund from funds at the disposal of the Inspector-General of Police.

CHAPTER 8

LEAVE

8.1. General.—(1) The rules relating to leave for all Government servants who are under the administrative control of the Punjab Government, are contained in Part IV of the Fundamental Rules, and in Chapters 6, 9, 10, 11, 15, 16, 18 and 19 of the Subsidiary Rules thereunder. Police Officers of all ranks are amenable to these rules, subject to such further conditions as are imposed by Police Rules.

(2) Gazetted Officers and clerks, who have to deal in any capacity, with applications for leave, are required to be familiar with, and are in position to refer to Volumes I and II of Punjab Financial Handbook No. 2, which contain the rules mentioned in sub-rule (1). This chapter contains only such departmental rules as supplement the rules of the of the Finance Department, and a summary of the more important of the latter rules for a guidance of subordinate police officers, who are not possession of the Handbooks referred to. In all doubtful cases or where detailed information is required, the rules should be consulted in original. Clerks and others having access to the full rules are required to give all reasonable assistance to officers of whatever rank, who wish to ascertain their individual rights and obligations in respect of leave, or to obtain guidance for dealing with requests received from their subordinates.

Note.—Certain Officers have exercised the option given to them at the time when the Fundamental Rules came into force of remaining under the leave rules to which they had previously been subject .The leave of such officers will not be regulated by Fundamental Rules, but they are, equally with others, amenable to special departmental rules regarding leave.

8.2. Principles governing the grant of leave.—Leave is earned by time spent on duty only. Leave can not be claimed as of right; the authority empowered to grant it may refuse or revoke it in the interest of the public service, or in accordance with any duly authorized disciplinary rule.

8.3. Nature of leave and method of calculation.—(1) A separate leave account (in A.F.No.75A./F.R.9-A) is maintained in the office to which he is subordinate for every police officer. In this account the leave to which he is entitled under the Fundamental Rules, is periodically placed to his credit and he is debited with the leave which he has taken. Leave due may be granted on average pay or half-average pay, or partly on one and partly on the other according to the conditions laid down in the Fundamental Rules. Leave not due may be granted on medical certificate and, in very exceptional circumstances, for not more than three months at any one time and six months in all otherwise than on medical certificate.

(2) Police officers may be granted by the State Government under conditions specified in the Punjab Civil Services Rules, Volume I part I, special disability leave if disabled in the performance or in consequence of their official duties or in consequences of their official position. Such leave is not debited in leave accounts. Under special circumstances, and when no other leave is by rule admissible, extraordinary leave, without pay, may be granted. Police Officers of and below the rank of Head Constable may be granted Hospital leave by the Superintendent of Police under whom they are serving, while under medical treatment for illness or injury, if such illness or injury is directly due to risks incurred in the course of their official duties. Hospital leave may be granted on leave salary equal to either average of half average pay as the authority granting it may consider necessary. Hospital leave, is not debited in leave accounts, and may be combined with any other leave which may be admissible; provided that the total period of leave after such combination shall not exceed twenty-eight months. The amount of Hospital leave which may be granted is limited to three months on average pay in period of three years. Hospital leave on half average pay counts for the purpose of this limit as half the amount of leave on average pay.

8.4. Special provisions regarding leave.—The following rules relating to leave are to be observed by all Police Officers—

(a) A Police Officer who has taken leave on account of ill-health whether technically on medical certificate or not shall, before he is permitted to return to duty, be required by the authority which granted him leave to produce a medical certificate in the following form —

"I, A.B._____, do, hereby certify that I have examined C.D_____ and that I consider him fit to resume his duties in Government Service."

The Officer shall produce the original certificate and statement of the case on which the leave was granted or extended before the authority asked to grant a certificate of fitness to return to duty. In the case of Gazetted Officers this certificate must be signed by a Civil Surgeon or Medical Officer of commissioned rank. If the leave has been sanctioned on a certificate granted by a Medical Committee the certificate of fitness to return to duty must also be obtained from a Medical Committee except (1) in cases in which the leave is for more than three months, or (2) in cases in which the leave is for more than three months, or leave for three months or less is extended beyond three months but the Medical Committee granting the original certificate or the certificate for extension state at the time of granting such certificate, that the Government servant need not appear before another Committee to obtain the certificate of fitness to return to duty.

No travelling allowance will be paid to an officer for journeys performed by him to appear before a Medical Committee to obtain a certificate of fitness to return to duty.

In the case of subordinate Police Officers the authority which granted the leave has discretion to admit a certificate by any registered medical practitioner.

(b) All applications for leave, or for extensions of leave, shall be made through the proper channel to the authority competent to grant the leave. The form of application shall be, in the case of gazetted officers A.F. No. 74, and in the case of subordinates Police Rules Form 8.4(b). Nothing in this rule shall debar a Superintendent of Police from requiring those police officers subordinates to him, who are in a position to do so, to apply verbally for leave in office or orderly room. When prescribed forms are not available, applications may be made by ordinary letter.

(c) Gazetted Officers applying for leave, or extension leave, on medical certificate, are required to appear before a medical board, in accordance with the provisions of Chapter XI of Punjab Financial Handbook No. 2, Volume II. Subordinate police officer are required to support applications for leave on medical certificate by the certificate of the Civil Surgeon of the district in which they are serving. Applications for extension of such leave must ordinarily be similarly supported by the certificate of the Civil Surgeon of the district where the applicant is residing while on leave. If the applicant for an extension of leave is incapacitated by illness from appearing before the Civil Surgeon, it is within the discretion of the authority empowered to grant the leave to accept the certificate of any registered medical practitioner. The grant of a medical certificate is not equivalent to the grant of leave and confers no right to leave; the certificate must be forwarded to the authority competent to grant leave, whose orders must be awaited. Except on strong grounds, leave recommended in the certificate of a competent medical authority should be granted.

(d) A police officer returning from leave is not entitled as of right to resume the post which he held before going on leave unless the order granting him leave specifically preserved his lien on such post. He must report his return to the authority which granted his leave and unless orders of posting have already been conveyed to him, await orders.

(e) A police officer holding a temporary post may be granted leave, within the limits allowed by rule 16.2 Punjab Financial Handbook No. 2, Volume II, provided he has held such temporary post for at least two years or, if he has held such post for less than two years, provided no extra expense to Government is involved. Probationary Police Officers may be granted such leave as would be admissible to them under these rules if they had been confirmed in their appointments; but leave to probationers while undergoing instructions will not only be granted in cases of special urgency.

8.5. Casual leave-grant of.—(1) Casual leave is a privilege granted by Government in the nature of a brief holiday, and is not treated as absence from duty. Such leave, consequently, shall not be entered in leave accounts.

(2) Casual leave may be granted by the authorities shown in rule 8.9 below, subject to the condition that it does not exceed ten days at any one time or twenty days in a year and that leave exceeding four days is not granted more than twice in a year.

(3) Exceptions to the provisions of rule 8.5 (2) are as follows—

(a) Members of the Indian Auxiliary Force may, if they can be spared, be granted casual leave up to a fortnight at a time to attend an annual camp.

(b) Casual leave up to 30 days may be granted to Police Officers required to undergo treatment at a Pasteur Institute.

(c) A police officer prohibited by the Civil Surgeon from attending his duties on account of infections disease in his family, may count the period of absence as casual leave up to a limit of 30 days.

Casual leave granted in accordance with these exceptions will not count against the annual amount of such admissible.

8.6. Casual leave-restrictions regarding.—(1) Casual leave may not be combined with other leave except in exceptional cases, when a police officer is prevented from attending to his duties by causes beyond his control. Rules 6.8 and 6.9 Punjab Financial Handbook No. 2, Volume II, should be referred to in adjudicating such cases.

(2) Police Officers on casual leave are prohibited from visiting places, whence their return within the period of their leave is likely to be prevented by blocking of roads, breakdown in transport or similar accidental cause, or from which they cannot return to their headquarters within 36 hours' notice. For special and adequate reasons the Inspector-General may relax this rule in particular cases, but it should ordinarily be strictly observed.

No casual leave for visits to Kashmir and Kulu will, however, be given without the express sanctioned of Government. (Punjab Government letter No. 30415 (H.—Gaz.), dated 12th October, 1931).

8.7. Casual leave of Superintendents.—(1) Police Officers in independent charge of districts shall consult the District Magistrate when applying for casual leave, and shall state in their applications to the Deputy Inspector-General that the dates proposed by them are convenient to the District Magistrate.

8.8. Joining time.—(1) Police Officers transferred from one post to another or returning from leave may be allowed joining time under the conditions laid down in Part IV of Fundamental Rules and Chapters 9 and 19 of Punjab Financial Handbook No. 2, Volume II, and subject to the limitations embodied in Police Rules.

(2) Joining time will not ordinarily be allowed to subordinate police officers transferred within the district in which they are serving, or returning from leave to the same district as that from which they proceeded on leave. Police Officers of all ranks may be required, by the authority empowered to transfer them or grant them leave, to take up their new posts without joining time, if the interests of the public service so demand. Police Officers required to proceed on temporary duty within or beyond the district in which they are serving are not considered to be transferred for the purpose of this rule.

To avoid the inconvenience to all concerned and the expense to Government involved in recalling officers, whose homes are at a distance, officers sanctioning leave should, as far as possible, fix dates of its commencement which will avoid the necessity of such recall.

8.12. Deposit of Government property before proceeding on leave.—Every police officer before proceeding on leave shall deposit all Government property in his possession or custody with the officer responsible under these rules for the custody of such property when in store.

8.13. Leave accounts.—The leave accounts prescribed in Fundamental Rule 76 shall be attached to character rolls and maintained in Form A.T. 290 in accordance with the instruction given in that form and with Fundamental Rules 77 to 80. It is most important that the accounts should be kept up with the greatest care and accuracy. They are the basis for the decision of all claims for leave and are essential to the preparation of pension claims, the settlement of which may be seriously delayed by inaccuracies in regard to leave accounts. Gazetted Officers must check these accounts frequently, both in the process of dealing with leave applications and otherwise.

8.14. Leave registers.—The orderly head constables shall maintain an English register of application for leave in Form 8.14(a) and a leave register in Form 8.14(b). 8.16. Leave salary, Declaration regarding.—Before proceeding on leave every police officer is required to declare whether he wishes his leave salary to be held over for payment on his return or remitted to him monthly. If the latter, he must state the post office to which he wishes a money order to be sent and must certify his willingness for the money order commission to be deducted from the amount due to him. Police Officers residing in the district in which their pay is drawn may if they desire, have the amount due to them remitted for disbursement to the police station nearest to their home; in such cases the procedure laid down in rule 10.92 will be followed.

8.17. Holidays.—(1) The occurrence of a gazetted holiday gives no right to a police officer to leave the station or area to which his movements on duty are restricted. Permission to leave such limits must be obtained from the authority empowered to grant casual leave to the officer concerned.

(2) Gazetted holidays, may be prefixed or affixed to leave with the permission of the authority competent to grant the leave; but such authority is bound by the provisions of Chapter 9 of Punjab Financial Handbook No. 2. Volume II, in respect of the grant of such permission.

CHAPTER 9

PENSIONS

9.1. General.—Subject to the age limits fixed by Articles 503 and 506 of the Civil Service Regulations all service in the Police Department is pensionable. Rates and conditions of 'pension' are given in the rules quoted below, with which officers preparing applications must be familiar—

Chapters XV to XXI (Ordinary pensions), XXXVIII (Wound and other Extraordinary pensions), XLVII (Applications for and grant of pensions), and XLVIII (Payment of pensions) of the Civil Service Regulations.

Reference to the following authorities is also necessary—

Statutory Rules and Orders, 1924, No. 1395, Superior Civil Service Pay (Revision to and Pension) Rules, published as Appendix G, Part B, Punjab Financial Handbook No. II Volume I;

The Proportionate Pension Rules promulgated with the Government of India, Home Department, and notification No. F. 868-22, dated Ist March, 1924, as subsequently amended, and the new pension rules of gazetted officers in Articles 474-476 of the Civil Service Regulations.

Police Officers are amenable to these rules, subject to such further conditions as are imposed by departmental rules.

9.2. Definitions.—(1) "Active Service" is define in Article 8, "Age" in Article 14, "Pension" in Article 41, and "Superior" and "Inferior" Service in Article 396, Civil Service Regulations.

(2) Articles 352, 353 and 454 Civil Service Regulations, define the cases in which no pension can be claimed.

(3) Articles 358 (a), 359, 360, 361, 374, 494, 495 (b), 498, 503 and 506, Civil Service Regulations, define the conditions of "qualifying" service.

(4) Service before enlistment is governed by Articles 356, 358 to 394, and 501, Civil Service Regulations and conditions laid down in rules 9.2 (5) and (6), 9.3, 9.29 and 12.24.

Note I.—If doubt exits as to whether any particular service under Articles 361, and 494, Civil Service Regulations, or sub-rule (4) above qualifies for pension or not, enquiry should be made from the head of the office or department in which the service was rendered.

Note II.—The service of Police Officers whose pay exceeds Rs. 20 per mensem is qualifying service after the age of 20 years [Articles 358 (a) and 506, Civil Service Regulations] and of those officers whose pay is Rs.20 or less per mensem, after the age of 18 years (Article 503, Civil Service Regulations).

Note III.—When a police constable drawing pay exceeding Rs. 20 per mensem retires on an invalid pension, all his service in the police after the age of 18 years shall be regarded as qualifying service.

(5) All police officers who are members of the regular establishment and are employed to serve in bodies of additional police, shall count such service for pension and Increment. Similarly, police officers, who have no substantive appointment and have been entertained in vacancies created by the sanction of additional police shall, on their being absorbed in the regular force, count such service for increment, as well as for pension.

(6) When a lower subordinate is re-enrolled the Superintendent of Police may allow his previous police service to count for pension subject to the conditions contained in rule 12.24.

(7) Articles 352, 396, 414, 481 and 484, Civil Service Regulations, particularly apply to menial servants.

9.3. Detailed conditions of Admissibility of Persons military service.— Instructions in regard to the circumstances in which former military service may be reckoned, towards police pension are given below. Each case, after necessary verification, shall be forwarded through the Deputy Inspector-General to the Inspector-General for the orders of the local Government—

(1) Military service, except service in the Imperial Service Troops, by an employee belonging to one of the classes mentioned in the note below may count towards service qualifying for civil pension, when such military service is itself pensionable, but has terminated before a pension has been earned in respect of it and has been rendered after the employee has attained the age of 20 years, and provided he has received no pension or gratuity from the Military Department in respect of such service.

(2) When any gratuity has been paid in respect of military service, such service can only count towards civil pension if the gratuity be refunded, such refund to be made in not more than thirty-six monthly instalments commencing from the date of completion of verification of military service. In such cases a reference should be made (for each case separately) of the Accountant-General, Punjab. When the case has been decided a note shall be made in the character roll and service book (if any).

Note.—The rule applies to Indian commissioned officers, non-commissioned officers and men of the Indian Army and to non-combatant departmental and regimental employees and followers of the supplemental services. It also applies to non-commissioned officers and men of the British service, warrant officers and departmental officers of the commissary and Army Service Corps Classes in respect of service with their units or departments in India.

(3) A certificate shall be obtained from the Controller of Military Accounts in whose audit area the individual served prior to his retirement from military service, showing whether or not such employee had received any pension or gratuity on discharge from the army, and whether or not the service rendered was pensionable and paid for from Indian Revenues or for which a pensionary contribution had been received by Indian Revenues. The reference to the Controller of Military Accounts should be accompanied with the sheet roll and the discharge certificate of the individual whenever these are available. He should also be asked to state whether the service was superior or inferior. This certificate shall be attached to the character roll of the individual concerned. A copy of the certificate shall immediately be sent to the Accountant-General.

(4) Indian Army reservists who are permanently appointed to the Police and discharged from the Army before they have earned a pension under the Military rules may, subject to the provisions of Article 356, Civil Service Regulations, be allowed to count for Civil pension all previous military service with the colours and half of their reserve service.

These instructions apply to all Army reservists enrolled in the Police, who retire on or after the 2lst October, 1929, prior to which date reservists were not enrolled in the Police unless they first obtained their discharge from the reserve.

To be eligible for this concession reservists who have already been confirmed in the Police and have not taken their discharge from the Army within 12 months from the date of their confirmation under note 3 to Article 356 of the Civil Service Regulations may do so by 1st October, 1935. Those who do not take their discharge by that date will draw reservist pay and count their police service towards military pension and not towards civil pension until eventually discharged from the reserve, when their service will begin to count for civil pension. If any such reservist has actually earned a military pension, it shall not be granted while he continues to serve in the police, -vide Article 526 (b), Civil Service Regulations.

Note.—The word 'confirmation' used in this rule means confirmation with reference to Rule 12.21 in a permanent vacancy in the regular Police.

9.4. Admissibility of leave periods for pension.—Periods of leave which count as service shall be determined for all police officers in accordance with Articles 407, 408, 412 and 413, Civil Service Regulations. Leave without allowances does not count as service towards pension. As regards menial servants see Article 414, Civil Service Regulations.

9.5. Emoluments.—Emoluments and average emoluments shall be calculated in accordance with Articles 486 to 490, read with Article 355 (b), Civil Service Regulations. Cases of menial servants are dealt with under Articles 481 and 482, Civil Service Regulations.

9.6. Preliminary verification of service.—(1) When an upper subordinate is likely within six months to retire from the public service, a statement of his services shall be prepared in Form No. 24 (obtainable from the treasury office) in accordance with instructions contained in Article 907 (a), Civil Service Regulations.

Note.—The verification must be finished before the application for pension is prepared, and if possible before the applicant retires or appears before the invalidating authority.

(2) The verification papers referred to in sub-rule (1) above, together with the service book, shall be submitted to the Deputy Inspector-General, who, in the case of Inspectors, shall forward the papers to the Inspector-General and in other cases shall sign the certificate at the foot of Form 24 and forward the papers to the Accountant-General.

When submitting the case to the Deputy Inspector-General, application should be made at the same time for the condonation of any interruptions or deficiencies (Articles 416 and 423, Civil Service Regulations) there may be, and also for the commutation of any period of leave which may be inadmissible.

The portion of service not verified by the Accountant-General, or the service occurring between the verified service, and the date of discharge on pension, shall be verified from the acquittance rolls, and a certificate to this effect shall be attached with the pension application.

(3) In the case of lower sub-ordinates the pension roll shall be prepared as directed in Article 824, Civil Service Regulations. Such periods of service as have to be verified in other offices shall be verified in good time.

(4) Doubtful points shall be checked by the vernacular long roll, order book, punishment register and acquittance rolls, and, if necessary, by reference to other offices as required by the Note I to rule 9.2 (4). The character roll should then be corrected. (vide Articles 823 and 824, Civil Service Regulations).

(5) Whether any discrepancy exists or not, inferior service rendered before enrolment in the police should be verified by reference to the head of the office in which it was performed. If it is impossible to verify the service in this way the procedure prescribed in Article 908 (e), Civil Service Regulations, should be followed. Superior service can be verified by the Accountant General,—vide Article 908 (b), Civil Service Regulations, but if this is not possible, the procedure described above should be followed.

(6) The pension claims of police officers of rank not higher than head constables, who are permitted by the local Government to count their former military service towards civil pension under Article 356 of the Civil Service Regulations, should be treated under the ordinary rules, and the statement of service in Form 24 forwarded to the officer-in-charge, Pension Branch, Accountant General's Office, Lahore, for verification of their claims to pension six months before their retirement as acquired by Article 907 (b) and (c) of the Civil Service Regulations.

9.7. Alteration in age.—(1) The date of birth shown in the character roll or corresponding record, can be altered only with the sanction of the Inspector-General of Police, on production of proof to his satisfaction. If the recorded age does not tally with that certified by an invaliding medical officer, board or committee, and the discrepancy affects the title to pension or liability to superannuation, the matter should be reported and the officer should not be discharged till the orders of the Inspector-General have been received. In the case of an officer whose year of birth or year and month of birth only is known, but not the exact date, the 1st

July of the year of 16th of the month, respectively, should be treated as the date of birth for the purpose of calculation of pension, -vide note under Article 283 of the Audit Code, Volume I. The date of birth of all officers enrolled before the 1st October, 1933, may be allowed to remain as already recorded.

(2) Further orders as to the conditions under which alterations of age may be sanctioned are contained in letter No. 20076 (Home Gazette) of 4th July, 1928, from the Chief Secretary to Government, Punjab. According to these orders, an alteration may only be made, after special enquiry, if applied for within two years of the applicant's entry into Government service. The Provincial Government may, however, make a correction in the recorded age of a Government servant at any time, if it is, satisfied that age has been incorrectly recorded with the object that the Government servant may derive unfair advantage.

9.8. Classes of pensions.—Pensions admissible to police officers and menial servant are detailed below.

9.9. Invalid pensions.—An invalid pension proportionate to the length of service is awarded to a police officer who by bodily or mental infirmity is permanently incapacitated for further service in the police. If the incapacity is directly due to irregular or intemperate habits, no pension can be granted. If it has not been directly caused by such habits but has been accelerated or aggravated by them, it will be for the authority by whom the pension may be granted to decide what reduction should be made on this account (Articles 441, 454 and 474, Civil Service Regulations). If the length of the invalid's service is less than ten years a gratuity only will be admissible. [Article 474 (a), Civil Service Regulations]. Superintendents are required to be on their guard against endeavours to retire on invalid pension by officers who are capable of serving longer.

9.10. Invaliding rolls.—Police officers whose cases fall under the above rule shall be sent to the Civil Surgeon with a letter in Form 9.10(a). If the Civil Surgeon is of opinion that the police officer should be invalided he should be asked to fill in an invaliding roll [Form 9.10 (b)] on receipt of which steps should be taken to prepare the pension papers without delay. If the incapacity is not declared to be complete and permanent, he should, if possible, be retained in employment on light duty. If a pension is granted the capacity for partially earning a living shall be taken account of in assessing its amount,-(vide Articles 427 and 447 (b) Civil Service Regulations).

9.11. Surgical operations not compulsory.—A Police Officer need not be subjected to a dangerous operation merely to render him fit to perform his duties.

9.12. Incapacity due to intemperance.—Whenever the Civil Surgeon is of opinion that the incapacity of a proposed invalid is caused wholly or partially, by irregular or intemperate habits, it shall be the duty of the Superintendent, in communication with Such Civil Surgeon, to investigate and place on record the medical and police history of such officer. It should be decide whether a police officer's inefficiency in the result of irregular habits, or whether it is due to one act which, from neglect, may have resulted in ruining his constitution and health.

The mere fact that a police officer has suffered from syphilis is not sufficient to make him liable to the forfeiture or reduction of pension. Such cases will be decided on consideration of their history as a whole. The record in such cases shall be submitted to the Deputy Inspector-General for orders, with the other documents of the case.

9.13. Invaliding Boards.—If the pension applied for exceeds Rs. 100 a month a certificate by a single medial officer should not be accepted as sufficient. In such a case the application shall be produced before the standing medical board or an invaliding committee (vide Chapter VIII of Punjab Medical Manual) with the following documents—

(i) The invaliding roll signed by the Civil Surgeon or competent medical officer;

(ii) The normal roll (Form No. 9.13), the character roll; and

(iii) the medical history of the officer.

9.14. Retention in service after date of invalidment.—Ordinarily a police officer shall not be retained in service after the date of his being certified unfit for service, and except with the special order of the authority competent to grant the pension, service after that date shall not count for pension (For exception to this rule see Article 456, Civil Service Regulations). When an invaliding roll is signed by more than one medical officers, and on different dates, the date of invaliding shall be taken to be the last of such dates.

Rule 9.15 for Punjab

9.15. Superannuation pension.—(1) A superannuation pension is granted to an officer in superior service entitled or compelled by rule to retire at a particular age (Article 458, Civil Service Regulations).

(2) A ministerial officer may be required to retire at the age of 55 years, but should ordinarily be retained in service, if he continues efficient up to the age of 60 years,—vide rule 56(b), Punjab Financial Handbook No. 2 Volume I. In the application of this rule the test of efficiency should be applied with reference to the requirements of the post the ministerial officer is holding. In the case of higher ministerial posts, the duties of which involve responsibility and the supervision of other clerks, the competent authority should not agree to retention in service beyond the age of 55 years, unless he is satisfied that the ministerial officer is fully able to discharge the reponsibilities of the post and efficiently to carry out the supervision of his subordinate. Similarly, a lower ministerial officer shall not be retained in service beyond the age of 55 years unless he fulfills efficiently the requirements of the appointment held by him.

(3) Officers other than ministerial, who have attained the age of 55 should ordinarily be required to retire and should not be retained in service except where unquestionable public grounds for retention exist, and there is not doubt as to the physical fitness of the officer. Extensions may not be granted for any period exceeding one year at a time.

Rule 9.15 for Haryana

9.15. Superannuation pension.—A superannuation pension is granted to a Government Servant entitled or required by rule 3.26 of the Punjab Civil Services Rules, Volume I, Part I, to retire at a particular age. No claims to compensation from a Government servant who is required to retire at a particular age under rules will be entertained.

(b) who is compulsorily retired under sub-rule (2) after completing ten years' qualifying service.

(2) The Inspector-General of Police may, with the previous approval of the State Government, compulsorily retire any Police Officer, other than that belonging to Indian Police Service or Punjab State Police Service, who has completed ten years' qualifying service, without giving any reasons. (i) against an officer whose efficiency is impaired but against whom it is not desirable to make formal charges of inefficiency or who has ceased to be fully efficient (i.e., when an officer's value is clearly incommensurate with the pay which he draws) but not to such a degree as to warrant his retirement on a compassionate allowance. It is not the intention to use the provisions of this rule as a financial weapon, that is to say, the provisions should be used only in the case of an officer who is considered unfit for retention on personal as opposed to financial grounds;

(ii) in cases where reputation for corruption, dishonesty or informous conduct is clearly established even though no specific instance is likely to be proved.

Note 2.—*The officer shall be given an adequate opportunity of making any representation that he may desire to make against the propsed action, and such representation shall be taken into consideration before his compulsory retirement is ordered. If the officer who applies for pension, is permitted to retire, the application shall be forwarded with the pension papers (vide Article 906 and 930, Civil Service Regulations.)

It is not the intention to use the provisions of this rule as a financial weapon, that is to say, the provisions should be used in only the case of an officer who is considered unfit for retention on personal as opposed to financial grounds;

1. Substituted by Haryana Govt. Notification Dated 22.6.1973.

1. Whether it is necessary to give adequate oppurtunity of making representation against the proposed action of compulsory retirement.—The case of the petitioner is that before the impugned order Annexure P/5 was passed he had not been afforded an opportunity as envisaged by Note 2 to the Rule reproduced above. On the other hand, he avers that earlier there was a proposal to retire him from service against which he represented. His representation was accepted. Respondent No. 4 passed the order Annexure P/1 vide which he allowed the petitioner to continue in service after the age of 55 years for one year more. It was further stipulated therein that in case his work is not found satisfactory or upto standard he could be relieved before the expiry of one year on three months notice or pay in lieu of it. The petitioner made a reprsentation against the order Annexure P/1 vide Annexure P/2 which was forwarded by respondent No.4 to the higher authorities vide endorsement Annexure P/3 wherein his case was recommended. It was mentioned that the petitioner has been doing exceptionally good work for maintenance of law and order. He is strenuous and hard worker and is still fit to serve more. As such he may be given extension upto three years. The Deputy Inspector General of Police, railways, Haryana respondent No. 2 accepted this representation and in the light of the recommendation made by respondent No. 4, permitted the petitioner to remain in service upto the age of 58 years. It was futher added that if his work and conduct deteriorated any time during this period his case shall be reviewed as laid down in the Government instructions on the subject. His grievance, therefore, is that without affording any opportunity to his envisaged by Note 2 to the Rule the impugned order Annexure P/5 could not be passed.

On the other hand, it is the case of the respondents in their repective written statements that since it is specifically mentioned in the order Annexure P/4 that in case his work and conduct deteriorates any time during the period of his service beyond 55 years his case be reviewed, it necessarily entails that no fresh opportunity was required to be given to the petitioner before the order Annexture P/5 was passed.

After hearing the learned consel for the parties, I am of considered view that the statutory requirement of Note 2 to rule 9.18 has been violated inasmuch as the petitioner has not been given an adequate opportunity of making any representation against the proposed action to direct his cumpulsory retirement from service. The stipulation in the order Annexure P/4 that if the petitioner's work and conduct deteriorates any time his case shall be reviewed as laid down in Government instructions does not dilute the mandatory requirement of Note 2 to the rule. The orders Annexures P/1 and P/4 coupled with the representation Annexure P/2 and the recommendation Annexure P/3 in fact show that on an earlier occasion on a representation made by the petitioner the proposal to direct his compulsory retirement at the age of 55 years was dropped. Respondent No. 4 styled the petitioner as a Head constable doing exceptionally good work. He was described as a strenuous and hard worker. Therefore, in case the work and conduct of the petitioner had deteriorated and the order Annexure P/4 required to be reviewed it was necessary that he thought to have been afforded adequate opportunity to make representation in accordance with the rule ibid. Therefore, I have no hesitation in my mind to hold that the order Annexure P/5 is ultra vires the provisions of Rule 9.18 of the Rules and is, therefore, void.. H.C. Pirthi Singh v. State of Haryana, 1988(3) SLR 385.

2. Field relating to superannuation and pre-mature retirement.—The field relating to the matter of superannuation and premature retirement is fully occupied by rules 9.15 to 9.18, and does not leave any room for the Governor to enroach thereupon is without any merit. The exhaustive definition of Section employee" in rule 2(2) which has already been quoted earlier clearly includes in it a member of the subordinate Police Force, Rule

5 of the 1975 Rules has given overriding effect to rule 3 of those Rules. If, therefore, andy other service rule applicable to the State employees in inconsistent with the 1975 Rules, the latter would override the former. To me there appear to be two ways of looking at this subject. Retirement can be divided into four different categories namely:—

(i) automatic retirement on attaining the age of superannuation;

(ii) compulsory retirement as a measure of punishment;

(iii) premature retirement after having put in a reasonably long period of service without assigning any reason; and

(iv) premature retirement on the ground of inefficiency, dishonesty, corruption or infamous conduct which cannot be resorted to without affording the delinquest official an opportunity to show cause against his proposed premature retirement.

There is no dispute about the first two categories of retirement being disinct from each other. Nor is there any dispute about the last two categories of retirement being distinct from each of the first two. It has, however, been contended by Mr. Kuldip Singh that it is fallacious to divide the last two classes of premature retirement into district compartments as in fect both of them Constitute one single kind of action, though the procedure prescribed by retiring a person may be slightly different in one case than the other. If Mr. Kuldip Singh is correct in this respect, the 1975 Rules have by operation of rule 6 thereof not only repaled this absolute power of the Government under note 1 to clause (c) of rule 5.32, but also notes 1 to 3 under clasue (b) of that rule. If, however, premature retirement on grounds of inefficiency, dishonesty, corruption, etc., is a distinct separate heading, the 1975 Rules cannot be said to have repealed the notes under clause (b), but only the notes under clause (c) of rule 5.32 of the Punjab Civil Services Rules, Volume II. If the division of cases of premature retirement made by me into two different classifications is correct, and if the notes under clause (b) of rule 5.32 still hold the filed notwithstanding the promulgation of the 1975 Rules, the provision made for premature retirement on the ground of inefficiency, etc., in rule 9.18 of the Police Rules also stands distinct without any show cause notice in the Police Rules is not occupied by any existing police rule of the nature of not 1 under clause (c) of rule 5.32, the 1975 Rules which come under the category (and not in the category covered by rule 9.18 apply to the police officials also. If, however, this splitting up of the cases of premature retirement by me is not correct, then by operation of rule 6 of the 1975 rules, rule 9.18 of the Police Rules has also been abrogated or repealed in the same manner as the notes under clause (b) of rule 5.32 of the Civil Services Rules Volume II have been repealed, as that is also covered by the repeal clause. In either eventuality the 1975 Rules would apply to the members of the subordinate Police Force.

In view of this situation rule 3 of the 1975 Rules niether encroches upon nor purports to encroach upon the field covered by rule 9.18 of Punjab Police Rules, Volume I. The field as regards conditions of service for premature retirement of subordinate police personnel is, therefore, not covered by any legislative of enactment or any other such rule which might stand in the way of the Governor exercising his authority under the proviso to Article 309. Gurdial Singh v. State of Punjab, 1976(1) SLR 78.

3. Provision of Rule 9.18 is not save from the operation and attack of Rule 5 of the 1975 Rules.—We are unable to agree with the learned counsel for the petitioners that rules 5 of the 1975 Rules overrides only such other rules which had been framed by the Governor of Punjab "in excercise of his powers under Article 309 of the Constitution", or that only those rules relating to premature retirement which had been framed under the proviso of Article 309 have been subsituted by the 1975 Rules, and that, therefore, rule 5 could not and has not repealed rule 9.18 of the Police Rules. No such limitation is discernible from the plain language of rule 5. The 1975 Rules have been made to override anything inconsistent with these rules "contained in any other rules for the time being force". It appears to me to be impossible to introduce into rule 5 by sime process of interpretation after the words "in any other rules" and before the words "for the time being in force" the force "framed under the proviso to Article 309 of the Constitution". By operation of rule 5 of the 1975 Rules override whatever may be inconsistant with the operative part of these rules in any other rule whatsoever which was in force in Punjab on July 28, 1975, subject only to one exception, and that is of rules which cannot be framed by the Governor either under the proviso to Article 309 or in excercise of any other statuory power conferred on him by any enactment such as section 2 of the Police Act. Since the Governor has the power to frame rules relating to premature retirement of subordinate police personal under the proviso to Article 309 as well as under section 2 of the Police Act, the provision of the rule 9.18 of the Police Rule (if is deemed to be inconsistent with the 1975 rules) is not saved from the operation and attack of rule of the 1975 Rules. There is, therefore, no merit even in the third point urged by the learned counsel for the petitioners. Gurdial Singh v. State of Punjab 1976 (1) SLR 78.

4. Rules of 1975 apply on account of their own force and not on account of sub-rule 5 of Rule 12.1.—By Punjab Government Home (Police) Department notification No. GSR-40/CA. 5/1861/Ss. 2 & 7/Amd (2)/63, dated February 12, 1963 (published in the Punjab Government Gazette, Extraordinary of that at page 119), the Governor of Punjab made the Punjab Police (Second Amendment) Rules, 1963. One of the amedments thereby made was to add sub-rule (5) to Rule 12.1 of the Punjab Police Rules, Volume II, which has already been quoted in an earlier part of this judgment. In the face of a seprate and specific rule relating to age of superannuation contained in rule 9.15 (3) of the Punjab Police Rules, the age of retirement provided in the Punjab Civil Services rules would no doubt not apply to the police personnel. Similarly in the matter relating to premature retirement on the ground of inefficiency, corruption, etc. it is rule 9.18 as amended in 1963, and not notes 1 and 2 under clause (b) of rule 5.32 of the Punjab Civil Services Rules, Volume II, that would apply to the subordinate ranks of the Police Force in the State; but so far as the 1975 Rules are concerned, they are not a part of the Punjab Civil Services Rules, but an independent set of rules framed by the Governor under Article 309 of the Constitution and apply to the subordinate ranks of the Police Force because the members of those ranks fall within the definition of "employee" in the 1975 Rules which override all other rules for the time being in force. There is a clear and important distinction between rule 12.1(5) of the Police rules on the one hand and rule 5 of the 1975 Rules on the other. Whereas supremacy is accorded to the Police Rules over the Punjab Civil Services Rules while applying the latter to the subordinate police ranks by rule 12.1 (5), overriding effect is given to the 1975 Rules by rule 5 thereof over all other rules relating to the matters covered by the 1975 Rules which might have been in force in the State of Punjab on the date on which the 1975 Rules came into force. Mr. Kuldip Singh, therefore, appears to be quite correct in submitting that the 1975 Rules are not a part of the Punjab Civil Services Rules, and cannot, therefore, be invoked against any member of the subordinate ranks of the Police in Punjab by operation of rule 12.1(5). The 1975 Rules apply on account of their own force and not on account of sub-rule (5) of rule 12.1 rule 12.1. Gurdial Singh v. State of Punjab, 1976(1) SLR 78.

5. Subject covered by Rule 9.15 is not at all touched by anything contained in the 1975 rules.—We are unable to agree that the 1975 Rules are inconsistent with rules 9.15 to 9.18 of the Punjab Police Rules, Volume I. The subject covered by rule 9.15 (Supernnuation pension) is not at all touched by anything contained in the 1975 Rules. On the contrary, as already pointed out, Article 458 of the Civil Services Regulations and rule 9.15(1) of the Police Rules are almost identical. There is no doubt that sub-rule (3) of rule 9.15 is inconsistent with the corresponding rule relating to age of super annuation contained in the Punjab Civil Services Rules, but that is a subject which is not dealt with by the 1975 Rules as the age of supernnation is neither reduced nor extended by those rules. Similarly there is nothing in the 1975 Rules which touches the subject covered by rule 9.1 of the Police Rule which deals with retention of a police employee in service after attaining the age of supernnuation (55 years in case of subordinate ranks of the police). The 1975 Rules do not prescribe anything relating to retention of any employee in service after the attaining the age of superannuation (which is 58 years for other State employees except for ministerial servants). Nor is there anything in the 1975 Rules which may be inconsistent with rule 9.17 of the Police Rules. I have already dealt with rule 9.18 of the Punjab Police Rules while discussing the arguments of Mr. Kuldip Singh on the second point. If it is held that premature retirement is of two types, the one covered by the notes under clause (b) and the other covered by the notes under clause (c) of rule 5.32 of the civil Services Rules, Volume II, there is nothing inconsistent between the 1975 Rules and rule 9.18 of the Police Rules. If, however, it is assumed that both the sets of notes deal with premature retirement and in the absence of any provision for one of those (innocent retirement), the other one is deemed to cover the whole of the filed relating to the subject of premature retirement, rule 9.18 insofar as it is inconsistent with the 1975 Rules, would stand repealed by operation of rule 6 and would otherwise have been overridden by the force of rule 5 of the 1975 Rules. It is on this ground that rules 9.18 to 9.15 will not stand as impediments in the way of the operation and application of the 1975 Rules to the subordinate ranks of the Punjab Police and not because of rule 12.1 of the Punjab Police Rules for the reasons already recorded in an earlier part of this judgement, the main reason being that the 1975 Rules are not a part of the Punjab Civil Services Rules. The arguments advanced under the fifth point, cannot, therefore, be of any avail to the petitioners. Gurdial Singh v. State of Punjab, 1976(1) SLR 78.

6. Guidance in rules relating to Compulsory retirement.—The basic thing which must be borne in mind is that after all the right to be in Government service is a mere right to hold the post to which one is appointed according to the rules applicable to the post or the service of coursed all service rules are subject to the constitutional protection afforded by Article 311 against the infliction of any of the well-recognised major punishments enumerated in that Article. The second thing is that so long as there is some guidance in the rules relating to compulsory retirement of a Government servant, it cannot be held to be violative of Article 311 of the Constitution as retirement from service after working for an appreciable number of years is not a punishment of any kind and Article 311 cannot, therefore, apply to it. The third settled proposition is that by compulsory or premature retirement authorised in public interest by valid rules, a Government servant does not lose any of the benefits of his past service, which have already been earned by him. The requirement of public interest for retiring a Government servant before attaining the age of superannuation has been held by their Lordships in Tara Singh, etc. v. State of Rajasthan and others, A.I.R. 1975 Supreme Court 1487 to be a safety value for making such orders so as to exclude arbitrainess or bad faith creeping in. Supreme Court has held in that case that the right to hold a Government post is defeasible according to the rules and when a person compeletes 25 years of service and the efficiency of such a person is impaired and yet the Government does not consider it desirable to bring any charge of inefficiency or incompetence against such an empolyee the Government passes orders of compulsory retirement of the incumpetent incumbent. This judgement is also an authority for holding that retirement on account of incompetency or inefficiency does not cast any stigma so as to attract Article 311. Gurdial Singh v. State of Punjab, 1976(1) SLR 78.

7. Adverse remarks.—Adverse remarks recorded in ACR for doubtful integrity. Instruction recorded in ACR are from the guidelines and internal consumption for the officer who are engaged in doing so. But the same can't be enforceable by Court of law. Davinder Singh v. State of Haryana, 2011(4) SLR (Pb&Hry) (DB) 210.

8. Dismissal from service.—Petitioner was a traffic inspector of Police and was assigned duties alongwith a constable. The Constable was charged with accepting illegal gratification. Petitioner charged with lack of supervision. No charge or allegation of accepting illegal gratification against the petitioner. In his service record of 33 years no such charge or misconduct was ever seen. Impugned order of dismissal from service quashed. Petitioner entitled to get pensionary benefits as per rule 16.2(1) of Punjab Police Rule. Shiv Raj Singh Sidhu v. Union of India, 2011(8) SLR (Pb & Hry) (DB) 275.

9. Voluntary retirement-Claim of.—A police officer may voluntarily seek retirement upon completion of 25 years of service and so retire if his appointing authority permits him to do so, in terms of clause (a) of sub-rule (1) of the Rule 9.18 of the Punjab Police Rules, 1934; Balwant Singh v. State of Haryana, (2018) 2 SCT 335: (2018) 5 SLR 566 (P&H).

10. Retention in service of the petitioner beyond the age of 55 years-Justification of.—In this case, the petitioner's acquittal was not honourable. He was given the benefit of doubt. Adverse remarks recorded by the authorities in the Annual Confidentail Report is within their subjective satisfaction on overall assessment made during the period of reckoning. The authority could well consider the entire record of the petitioner to form a reasonable opinion as to whether it justifies retention in service of the petitioner beyond the age of 55 years; A. S. I., Sant Ram v. State of Haryana, (2017) 2 SCT 819 (P&H).

11. Voluntary retirement-Need of approval of the Government.—A police officer may be compulsorily retired after completing 25 years of service, with the approval of the Government, in terms of sub-rule (2) of the Rule 9.18 of the Punjab Police Rules, 1934; Balwant Singh v. State of Haryana, (2018) 2 SCT 335: (2018) 5 SLR 566 (P&H).

12. Compulsory retirement-Entitlement for the retiring pension.—In the present case the compulsory retirement has not been prescribed as a punishment under the Punjab Police Rules, 1934; rather the same is simpliciter and a member of the service will be entitled for the retiring pension; State of Haryana v. Chander Singh, Ex. Constable No. 620/ Jind, (2018) 1 SCT 400: (2018) 4 SLR 576: (2018) 1 Law Herald 187 (P&H).

13. Voluntary retirement-Condition for.—A police officer may voluntarily seek to be retired on or after attaining 55 years of age, provided he gives three months notice to his appointing authority, in terms of clause (d) of sub-rule (1) of the Rule 9.18 of the Punjab Police Rules, 1934; Balwant Singh v. State of Haryana, (2018) 2 SCT 335: (2018) 5 SLR 566 (P&H).

14. Compulsary retirement of employee-Power of.—The power to retire an employee compulsorily is absolute in the authority and to his subjective satisfaction when taken on objective assessment that retention is not in public interest. This is not a case where the adverse entry of integrity being doubtful rested solely on the allegations in the criminal case. There was also failure to call in question the adverse ACRs within reasonable time; A. S. I., Sant Ram v. State of Haryana, (2017) 2 SCT 819 (P&H).

15. Voluntary retirement-Requirement of three months notice.—A police officer may be retired by the appointing authority at any time on or after he attains the age of 55 years of age, provided he is given notice of three months of such retirement, in terms of clause (c) of sub-rule (1) of the Rule 9.18 of the Punjab Police Rules, 1934; Balwant Singh v. State of Haryana, (2018) 2 SCT 335: (2018) 5 SLR 566 (P&H).

16. Pension as well as compulsory retirement-Pre-requisite for.—As per Rule 9.18 of the Punjab Police Rules, 1934, it is clear that qualifying service of 25 years to the credit of a member of a service including the constable is pre-requisite for pension as well as compulsory retirement and without fulfilling this condition, the compulsory retirement is not permissible under Rule 9.18 (2). Thus, the conversion of the dismissal of the plaintiff-respondent into compulsory retirement by learned First Appellate Court is dehors the Rule 9.18(2); State of Haryana v. Chander Singh, Ex. Constable No. 620/Jind, (2018) 1 SCT 400: (2018) 4 SLR 576: (2018) 1 LawHerald 187 (P&H).

17. Order of compulsory retirement-Sustainablity of.—In this case, it is found that the action is mostly arbitrary and therefore, the order of compulsory retirement is not sustainable and is, therefore, quashed. Since the petitioner has still some time left for superannuation, he would be reinstated to service forthwith with all consequential benefits flowing therefrom; Nirotam Parshad v. State of Haryana and others, (2014) 4 SCT 86: (2015) 3 SLR 169: (2014) 4 RSJ 745 (P&H).

18. Voluntary retirement-Power of the appointing authority.—Naturally, even though the note below the proviso to sub-rule (1) of the Rule 9.18 of the Punjab Police Rules, 1934 postulates that the appointing authority is empowered to retire a police officer at the age of 55 years or later, without assigning any reason, yet, as per the 'constitutional scheme', he cannot be retired arbitrarily but for some cogent reasons, (even though the order of retirement cannot be stigmatic); Balwant Singh v. State of Haryana, (2018) 2 SCT 335: (2018) 5 SLR 566 (P&H).

19. Voluntary retirement-Requirement of the previous sanction of the Government.—The Rule 9.18 of the Punjab Police Rules, 1934 nowhere stipulates that upon deciding to issue notice of retirement, informing a police officer that he would stand retired upon attaining the age of 55 years (or after 3 months from receipt of the date of notice after the age of 55 years), previous sanction of the Government is required; Balwant Singh v. State of Haryana, (2018) 2 SCT 335: (2018) 5 SLR 566 (P&H).

9.19. Wound and other extraordinary pensions and gratuities.—(1) Police Officers of all ranks are eligible for pensions or gratuities or family pensions in compensation for death, wounds, injuries, or disablement from disease, met with or contracted in the performance of or in the consequence of their official duties, or in circumstances directly arising from their official position. The nature and conditions of such grants under varying circumstances, and the procedure to be followed in applying and making recommendations for such grants, are described in Chapter XXXVIII, Civil Service Regulations.

(2) The grant of pensions or gratuities in cases of anarchist outrages will be dealt with under the special powers delegated to Provincial Governments in Government of India, Finance, Department, Letter No. 1370-C.S.R., dated the 5th December, 1922, and letter No. 58-V-30 Police, dated the 20th August, 1930.

(3) The pensions or gratuities of special constables or their dependents shall be determined in the light of their private circumstances subject to a fixed maximum.

The maximum benefits for such constables and their dependents shall be approximately equivalent to those admissible in respect of Government Servants intentionally killed, or injured, in the performance of their duty although, in making the award, the local Government will take into consideration the private fortune of the special constable, including any provident or family pension fund which accrued to the claimants from non-Government sources [Punjab Government endoresement No. 37233-(Home-Police), dated Ist December, 1931, on Government of India, Finance Department letter No. 2853-R II, dated 16th November, 1931.]

9.20. The Compassionate Fund.—(1) The Provincial Government maintains a Compassionate Fund for the relief of families of Government servants left in indigent circumstances through the premature death of the person upon whom they depended for support. The fund is not intended to supplement other provision in the form to pension and gratuities. Grants are restricted to exceptional and thoroughly deserving cases. Gratuities, and not pensions, are granted and except, in very exceptional circumstances, the equivalent of six months pay of the deceased is the maximum admissible. Yearly grants may be made for a limited period to defray the expenses of educating children. Note.—To compel an officer after discharge to present himself for such similar purposes is not lawful.

(2) Application for wound and other extraordinary pensions should be prepared in Civil Service Regulation Forms 25 and 26 in the case of officers injured, and in Civil Service Regulation Form 22 in the case of deceased officers.

   (d) The period of each rate of pay should be show separately.

9.24. Avoidance of delay in submission of pension papers.—Delay in the submission of application for pension causes great hardship to the offices concerned. Submission of pension should not be delayed pending recovery of monies due. Officers should state prominently that a recover is due, and leave Government to direct the recovery from the pension.

9.25. Submission of pension application.—The application should be forwarded with a covering letter to—

(a) The Deputy Inspector-General, in case of wound and other extraordinary pensions, who will forward it through the Inspector-General for the orders of Government.

(b) The Inspector-General, in case of Police Officers drawing pay Rs. 45 and under.

(c) The Accountant-General in all other cases.

9.26. Anticipatory pensions.—When the Accountant-General sends a memorandum of services verified by him of police officers on pay exceeding Rs. 40 per mensem, he sends with it a form and certain directions required under Article 925, Civil Service Regulations. If the applicant is willing to receive pension in anticipation of sanction, the form should be filled in, signed and submitted in accordance with the directions.

9.27 Sanction of pension.—(1) A claim to a pension by a police officer on pay not exceeding Rs. 40 per mensem, only for the period of continuous and verified service in the force in which at the time of his application he is serving, may if admissible under the strict letter of the rules, be allowed by the Inspector-General and reported to the Accountant-General with the necessary particulars for identification.

9.29. Condonation of interruptions and deficiencies in service.—(1) The Inspector-General of Police is empowered to condone all interruptions the service of Inspector; Deputy Inspector-General in the service of other upper subordinates and Superintendent of Police in the service of lower subordinates. (3) All officers sanctioning pensions are empowered to order recovery of over payments of leave allowances, when this is recommended by the Account Department. Cases in which the officer sanctioning the pension does not agree with the Accountant-General in considering that recovery should be made, should be referred to the Inspector-General. The disposal of such references should not interfere with the sanction and payment of a pension otherwise admissible under the rules. It is undesirable that an officer should be kept out of his pension in regard to which there is no doubt, because its enhancement depends on the consideration and reference to higher authority of some concessions claimed.

In the last case the date of the medical certificate should be stated (4) in case of officers proceeding to England on leave preparatory to retirement, whether they desire to receive payment through their agents in India or by means of sterling bills in England.

Responsibility of drawing and countersigning officers.—The following Articles from the Civil Account Code are reproduced for guidance of police officers as to the responsibilities attaching to the signature and counter-signature of bills. The rules relate specially to contingent expenditure, but the principles apply to official expenditure generally.

(a) Every public officer should exercise the same vigilance in respect to petty contingent expenses as a person of ordinary prudence would exercise in spending his own money. The drawing officer is further responsible for seeing the rules regarding the preparation of vouchers are observed, that the money is either required for immediate disbursement or has already been paid from the permanent advance, that the expenditure is within the available appropriation, and that all steps have been taken with a view to obtain an additional appropriation, if the original appropriation has either been exceeded or is likely to be excelded, and that in the case of contract contingencies the proposed expenditure does not cause any excess over the contract grant. (Article 91, Civil Account Code, Volume I).

(b) It is the duty of a countersigning officer to see that the charges made in a contingent bill are of obvious necessity, and are at fair and reasonable rates; that previous sanction for any item requiring it is attached; that the requisite vouchers are all received and in order, and that the calculations are correct; and specially that the grants have not been exceeded or are not likely to be exceeded, and that the Accountant-General is informed either by a note on the bill or otherwise of the reason for any excess over the monthly proportion of the appropriation. If the expenditure be progressing too rapidly, he should communicate with the disbursing officer, and insist on its being checked(Article 92, Civil Account Code. Volume I.).

10.5. Control and check on progress of expenditure.—To facilitate a check on the progress of expenditure by the Deputy Inspector-General of Police, the Inspector-General of Police and the Accountant-General, a series of returns has been prescribed, for which the necessary "B.M." forms are obtainable as "universal forms" in the manner prescribed in rule 11.43. The procedure detailed in paragraph 14.5 of the Punjab Budget Manual is summarized as follows—

Disbursing officers are required to maintain for all expenditure, registers in form B.M 29. In these registers the accounts classification shall be shown according to the headings for the form, and the allotment under each unit shall be entered in red ink at the top of each column. A small slip Form B.M. 28 (Bill Extract) is required to be attached to each bill (other than pay bills) and is returned with the cash or cheque by the treasury officer. The amount of each bill, with the number of treasury voucher as shown in the Bill Extract, shall be entered under the appropriate heads in Form B.M. 29. At the end of each month the expenditure shall be totalled and the unexpended balance under each unit entered in red ink at the head of the ensuing month's account. On the 3rd of each month disbursing officers shall submit to their controlling officers and the Inspector-General of Police a copy of their B.M. 29 account for the preceding month, with the Form B.M. 28 in original and an abstract of the Form B.M. 31 in respect of both the general cash accounts and the additional police account. A copy of the abstract in B.M. Form the should also be sent to the Deputy Inspector-General.

Controlling officers are required to follow the above procedure for expenditure incurred directly by them, and also to maintain registers in Form M.B. 30, in which the returns received from disbursing officer shall be entered to enable them to effect control over progress of expenditure. They should be compare the entries in M.B. 29 accounts received from disbursing officers with schedules (B.M.28) received from treasury officers which show the payments made by them. The Inspector-General of Police is required to consolidate all returns in Form B.M. 31 and send it, with the original statements from which his return has been complied, to the Accountant-General, so as to reach him by the 20th of the month following that to which the accounts related. Discrepancies are then reconciled by the Inspector-General and the Accountant-General and corrections are notified to controlling and disbursing officers.

Disbursing officers are also required to submit not later than the 3rd of each month to the controlling officer and the Inspector-General of Police a departmental return in Form 10.5, showing under each primary and secondary unit of the allotment, expenditure incurred during, and the balance available at the end of the preceding month both for the general cash account and the additional Police account. This is necessary to enable the latter officers to effect control and watch the progress of expenditure under each primary and secondary unit.

The above procedure is additional to the detailed accounts of contingent expenditure prescribed in rule 10.110.

10.6. Pages of registers to be numbered.—The pages of all account registers shall be numbered, and a gazetted officer shall certify on the inside of the cover of each register the number of pages which it contains. Security deposits, whether made in cash or in one of the security forms specified below, shall be covered by a bond or agreement (in Public Works Department forms Buildings and Roads Stereo Nos. 83 and 84 suitably adapted) setting forth the conditions under which the security is held and may be ultimately refunded or appropriated.

If the officer is not able to furnish the amount of cash in a lump sum it may be deducted from his pay in instalments. Or, as an alternative to cash security, he may be permitted, if he so desires, to take out a fidelity policy involving the payments of a small monthly premium. By such a policy Government can get a much larger security, but the officer concerned losses to the extent of the premium paid. Security can also be taken in any of the following forms—

The rule applies to all account records, not only to those maintained in English. (Article 30, Civil Account Code, Volume I).

10.9. Claims for payment of arrears.—Claims to arrears of pay or allowances or increments, which have been allowed to remain in abeyance for a period exceeding one year, cannot be investigated by the Accountant-General, except under special orders obtained from the authority competent to appoint the officers by whom the claim is made. The investigation of claims which are more than three years old can only be sanctioned under the orders of the Local Government. The period of three years will ordinarily be counted from the date the claim was due. Where, however, orders under which the claim has arisen have been passed by a competent authority sometime after the lapse of the period to which the claim relates, the period of three years should run from the date of the orders, of that authority. No claim not preferred within six months of its becoming due can be paid by a treasury officers without the sanction of the Accountant-General, but this rule does not apply to claims of Rs. 5 and less, which are preferred within one year of their becoming due. (3) Subject to the allotment to the officers specified in the prceeding sub-rule of adequate share of the permanent advance, further distribution may be made, if the necessity therefore is established, to the reader to the Superintendent, to gazetted officers in-charge of sub-divisions and to the District Inspector. A small balance should remain in the hands of the accountant for emergent expenditure in the headquarters office, such as payments for value payable parcels and bearing charges, but, in accordance with the principle stated in rule 10.46 (vii) this officer should be used as little as possible as a disbursing officer. A statement showing the distribution of his permanent advance allotment made by Superintendent shall be entered on the first page of the general cash book.

(4) All police officers holding allotments from the permanent advance are required to submit for record in the office of the Superintendent the certificate required by rule 10.105 (3).

If necessary, to avoid delay, the prosecuting Inspector shall meet the bills submitted by police stations from his own permanent advance.

(2) For the recovery of the departmental expenses defrayed from the permanent advance, application shall be made in writing in Form 10.109(2) as often a may be necessary to prevent the advance allotment from becoming exhausted. Such applications shall be supported by vouchers for each item. If a voucher is lost the procedure prescribed in rule 10.36 (1) shall be followed. The accountant shall check such bills and obtain the orders of the Superintendent for payment or otherwise. The details of such bills will not be recorded in the contingent register (rule 10.110) until the payment order has been recorded in the Order Book. The accountant will be responsible for preparing abstract contingent bills at sufficiently frequent intervals and taking other steps to ensure the reimbursement of permanent advances as expeditiously as possibly. Delay in this matter should be brought to the notice of the Superintendent by officers holding advances, and all gazetted officers at inspections should pay particular attention to the manner in which the permanent advances has been handled.

10.110. Contingent register.—Separate registers shall be maintained in Form 10.110 for each class of contingent charges in every office to which a contingent grant is distributed, as follows—

I. Contract Contingencies.

II. C class (Audited) contingencies.

III. Allowances and Honoraria.

IV. Supplies and Services.

V. Police Lands Fund.

Each register shall contain as many columns as there are detailed heads prescribed in this connection for each type of contingent expenditure. Each unit will have its own money column. Units, such as "Rewards to private persons" which are sub-divided should be linked by the bracket. The amount of the annual allotment grant and the progressive total of expenditure should be entered below the description of the unit. In the case of any item of expenditure which requires explanation on account of its unusual nature or amount particulars should be entered in the column headed "Description of charge", though the amount is entered only on its special column . The period to which any recurring charges refer should also be noted in the "Description" column. (Article 94, Civil Account Code, Volume I).

To enable the disbursing officer to watch the progress of expenditure under each units as compared with the budget grant progressive balances and totals, as prescribe in the footnote to the form, shall invariably be entered.

Should an increase, decrease, disallowance or misclassification under any unit of expenditure be notified by the controlling or audit officer, the necessary corrections shall be made in red ink by plus or minus entries in the figures of allotment, expenditure and balance.

Money drawn from the treasury and not expanded by the end of the month (such as refunds of carriage charges by escorts etc.) should be refunded into the treasury either in cash or by short drawal in the next abstract contingent bill. Such refunds should be deducted from the expenditure total. The amount can be re-drawn when required.

10.111. Heads of contingent expenditure.—(1) Appendix No. 10.111 (1) shows the units into which the contingent grants are divided. The distribution of allotment is published annually in the police gazette in day. Pending such publication contingent expenditure may be incurred monthly up to the monthly average of the previous year's allotment.

Bills for pay and other charges duly sanctioned for the month of March and previous months may be paid in anticipation of communication of the budget. Similar expenditure may also be incurred in emergent cases during the months of April and May in anticipation of communication of the budget allotment, provided such expenditure does not exceed the average monthly expenditure of the previous year.

Note.—This relaxation should not be regarded as a relaxation of the rule contained in paragraph 12.5 of the Punjab Budget Manual under which Heads of Departments are required to carry out the distribution of the grant later than the 1st May in each year.

(2) No salary charges of any kind (except for pay of hot weather establishment, pay of menials and of establishment of the police lands fund) and no additions to pay may be charged as contingent expenditure or included in contingent bills.

(3) All additional police contingent expenditure must directly concern the additional police post for which the provision for contingencies has been sanctioned. Expenditure which may legitimately be incurred under contingencies falls under the following heads—

(i) Buildings.—'Hutting charges' included not only be initial provision for building but also the expenditure necessary for their maintenance as well as rental charges. Where additional police are accommodated in existing police building a portion of the repairs to such building should be debited in the General Police Fund.

(ii) Furniture.—No article of office equipment for the use of the supervisory gazetted staff should be ordinarily be purchased out of the General Police Fund, but officers in direct charge of additional police posts may reasonably be supplied with such equipment. On the termination of a post this may be utilized elsewhere at the discretion of the Superintendent of Police of the district who should bear this in mind when making purchases initially. The same principal applies to the purchase of other equipment such as tables, chairs, benches and durries.

(iii) Lighting Charges.—Provision should invariably be made for the adequate lighting of the building occupied by the additional police. This implies the incurring of initial expenditure on the purchase of lamps and recurring expenditure in the supply of oil for such lamps.

(iv) Stationery.—Such articles or stationery as are usually supplied by the Stationery Office and are required for use in connection with the post should be locally purchased by the Superintendent of Police (with the previous sanction of the Deputy Inspector-General of Police as required by serial No. 20 of the table appended to rule 20.9 of the Book of Financial Powers amended by Punjab Government, Finance Department, Notification No.24523, dated 26th September, 1972) at the expense of the General Police Fund, not from the district allotment for contingencies. A limited amount or stationery may be used in the headquarters office, the work of which is often appreciably increased by the existence of additional police.

(v) Travelling Allowance.—Expenses incurred in the moving about of men working in additional police posts, whether such charges would ordinarily be debitable to "Traveling allowance" or to "Carriage of Constabulary". should be met from the General Police Fund, provided that the journeys are definitely connected with the duties of the additional police.

(vi) Allowances to Bhishtis and Sweepers.—The wages of bhistis and sweepers entertained for additional police posts should be met from the General Police Fund. They should not be appointed without the sanction of the Deputy Inspector-General of Police as required by Serial No. 4 of the table appended to the rule 20.7 of the Book of Financial powers. Their pay should be subject to a maximum of Rs. 13 per mensens, plus local compensatory allowance wherever sanctioned.

(vii) Rewards.—Rewards to the personnel of an additional police post should normally be met from the Additional Police Account.

(4) In no case should expenditure be incurred in excess of the amount sanctioned for contingences, since there is no means of re-appropriation from some other source. Ordinarily the provision of 10 per cent of salaries is ample to meet all demands, but if heavier expenditure is anticipated this fact should be represented when proposals for additional police are submitted to Government.

10.112. Abstract contingent bills.—(1) When it is necessary to draw money for contingent expenses from the treasury, the accountant will draw a red ink line across the page of the register, add up the several columns and posts the total of each unit in an abstract contingent bill in one of the following prescribed forms—

(a) For Contract Contingencies [Form 10.112(1) (a)];

(b) For Audited Contingencies; Allowance and Honoraria; Supplies and Services and Police Land Funds [Form 10.112 (I) (b)].-(Article 97, Civil Account Code, Volume I).

(2) The bill with all available vouchers the number of which should be quoted in the bill, and the contingent register shall be laid before the head of the office who shall compare the entries in the register with the payment orders and certify that the payment orders have been cancelled; that in the case of contract contingencies all vouchers for items above Rs. 25 have been retained, and in the case of audited contingencies all vouchers for items above Rs. 25 have been attached to the bill or will follow. He shall then sign the bill and also the corresponding entry in the cash distribution register (Rule 10.42). When the Cash Book is checked every month, the officer checking it, or an officer specially detailed for the duty by the checking officer, should check contingent bills in details and certify in the contingent registers that vouchers for all items of expenditure have been received, that the vouchers for item above Rs. 25 have been forwarded to the Accountant-General and that all other vouchers have been so defaced that they cannot be used again.

(3) It has been ruled that the head of the office or the gazetted officer to whom the duty has been delegated (Rule 10.2) must himself initial the entries in the contingent register. If this duty has been performed by a non-gazetted Officer, during the absence of the gazetted officer, the latter must on return to headquarters review the register and re-initial the entries; any omissions in this respect shall be rectified without fail at the time of signing an abstract bill.

Note.—Sub-vouchers for Rs. 25 or under which are not submitted to the Audit Office should be preserved for a period of one year, and those above that limit for 3 years. The vouchers should not, however, be destroyed even after the expiry of the prescribed periods until departmental audit for the relevant period has been conducted and any objection relating to those sub-vouchers have been settled.

(Rule 2.41, T.A. Rules). For the purpose of this rule the fact that a motor car or cycle may be required for duty within the limits of another station is not in itself sufficient justification for a claim.

10.127. Journey by Special Conveyance.—When a police officer is required by the order of superior authority to travel by special means of conveyance, the cost of which exceeds the amount of the daily allowance or mileage allowance admissible to him under the ordinary rules, he may draw the actual cost of travelling in lieu of such daily or mileage allowance. 10.129. Distance to be travelled before daily allowance is admissible.—Daily allowance may not be drawn for any day on which a police officer does not reach a point outside a radius of five miles form his headquarters or return to his headquarters from a similar point. The actual amounts which may be spent on tolls and on fares for journeys by railway or other public conveyance within five miles of headquarters may be drawn (Rule 2.54, T.A. Rules).

Note.—The term of five miles should be interpreted as meaning a distance of five miles by the shortest practicable route by which a traveller can reach his destination by the ordinary modes of travelling.

If, however, the mileage for the first 25 or 15 miles (as the case may be) be less than the daily allowance, mileage should be drawn instead of daily allowance, provided the mileage calculated for the entire journey be not less than the daily allowance. For journeys from headquarters and back not exceeding 25 miles performed on the same day to a place beyond a radius of 5 miles the travelling allowance drawn should be mileage allowance or daily allowance whichever is less.

(2) For journeys by rail or steamer, in addition to the rates admissible for such journeys, half daily allowance may be drawn for the days of departure and arrival including days of departure from arrival at headquarters.

(3) When on any day, a journey by road is combined with a journey by railway or steamer or both, a police officer other than a constable, may draw in lieu of his daily allowance, mileage allowance in respect of the journey by rail or steamer of both plus either (1) half daily allowance or (2) if the journey by road does not exceed (a) 25 miles if it starts from and ends with, the same place on the same day, and (b) 15 miles in other cases, mileage allowance restricted to daily allowance. If these limits are exceeded he may draw in addition mileage allowance for the excess number of miles. Mileage allowance under this rule is calculated to and from the railway station.

Note 1.—Short journeys within a radius of five miles from headquarters may not be added to other journeys when calculating the distance travelled by road or the amount of mileage allowance admissible for road journeys.

If, however, the journey is performed in a private motor vehicle (belonging to another Government servant) for the use of or propulsion of which he does not incur any expense, he will draw daily allowance only in respect of this journey and no mileage allowance be drawn.

PART VIII

MISCELLANEOUS

10.164. Police Lands Fund.—Revenue and expenditure in connection with police lands (vide rule 3.28 et. seq.) shall be accounted for in the police lands fund. Payments to this fund shall be made in the manner prescribed in rule 10.50 (b). Expenditure from the fund can be incurred, at the discretion of the Superintendent of Police within his budget allotment, on the pay of the establishment sanctioned for each district by the Deputy Inspector-General, on the planting and watering of shade and fruit-trees and ornamental shrubs, and on similar development of the land calculated to improve the appearance and amenities of Police Lines and other buildings. If funds are available after the above purpose have been served, expenditure may be incurred under the specific sanction of the Deputy Inspector-General in each case, on the purchase and upkeep of utensils for the use of cooks, in the headquarter lines. Some for expenditure shall be drawn in abstract contingent bill as prescribed in Appendix 10.111.

10.165. Establishment.—All posts on the establishment of the police lands fund are non-pensionable and can be created only on the authority of the Deputy Inspector-General of the Range. The Accountant-General shall be supplied by each Deputy Inspector-General with a statement of all such posts, and all alternation in the establishment should be similarly communicated.

10.166. Budget estimates and allotments for police lands fund.—(1) Superintendents of Police shall submit to the Deputy Inspector-General annually on the 1st August budget estimates of police lands fund revenue and expenditure in Form 10.166 (1).

(2) Estimates shall be carefully framed on the principal laid down for other budget estimates. The relation between revenue and expenditure must vary according to local conditions. In some places the revenue cannot be expected to provide for the minimum expenditure, which is necessary to keep the surroundings of police building in proper order; in other places venue from valuable fruit crops and the like may greatly exceed the reasonable needs of expenditure. Superintendent in making their estimates and Deputy Inspector-General in scrutinizing them are required to consider each case carefully on its merits and to ensure that steps are taken to credit to the fund all revenue, which can reasonable be collected from the lands and that no expenditure is incurred which is not both consonant with the legitimate purposes of the fund and provided for in the allotment of funds. Convincing reasons will be required, however, in every case where estimate of expenditure exceed estimates of revenue.

(3) Deputy Inspector-General shall submit consolidated estimates in Form 10.166 (3) for their ranges to the Inspector-General not later than 25th September, retaining the original district estimates in their own offices.

(4) On receipt of intimation from the Inspector-General of the allotments placed at their disposal, Deputy Inspector-General shall make distribution to districts at their discretion. Reappropriation with the distribution may be made at the discretion of the Deputy Inspector-General, who may also, if he considers it necessary, apply to the Inspector-General for reappropriation from the police lands fund allotment of another range.

10.167. Local audit of police accounts.—A special post of auditor is sanctioned in the office of each range Deputy Inspector-General. These auditor are required to carry out a thorough audit inspection of the whole of the accounts, including those of the police Deposit Fund and General Police fund, in each district of the range, in conjunction with the Deputy Inspector-General's annual inspection of the district. They shall carry out similar audit inspection of police offices not attached to ranges, as may be ordered by the Inspector-General or Deputy Inspector-General.

10.168. The Budget.—Gazetted officers, Head Clerks and accountants are required to familiarize themselves with the general principles of the system of Government accounts contained in the Punjab Budget Manual. In order that they may understand the processes by which revenue and expenditure are estimated and demands scrutinized, and to enable them to put forward proposals affecting their own offices in the form necessary to ensure consideration at the proper time, a study of the following portions of the Manual in particular is necessary—

Paragraphs 1.2, 1.4 and 14.1, showing the structure of the estimates and the division of expenditure.

Paragraphs 1.10 and 1.11, explaining the chain of scrutiny and the imperative necessity of adherence to prescribed procedure and dates.

Paragraphs 1.12 to 1.17 which show the stages through which all proposals involving new expenditure have to pass and form which it can readily be understood that the prospect of such proposals being, sanctioned without avoidable delay depends mainly upon the care and foresight with which schemes are presented in the first instance by Superintendents of Police.

Paragraphs 1.22 which explains the means by which unspent balance (other than the saving in the contract contingent grant) may be made available in the next budget grant, thus making hasty expenditure at the end of a financial year inexcusable .

Paragraphs 1.25 which is an explanation of the constitutional reason for the prohibition expenditure in excess of budget grants.

Chapter 3, read with the relevant portions of Appendix D and paragraph 5.6, described the method of completing the forms supplied by the Finance Department for the preparation of budget estimates of revenue and expenditure, the nature of the explanatory material which is required in support of estimate and the dates and channels of submission.

10.169. Preparation of budget estimates.—Budget estimates will be prepared in the first instance by Head Clerks and accountants, but heads of office are required personally to check the estimates so prepared with great care, and to satisfy themselves that estimates of revenue and expenditure are so accurate as possible and are not mere repetitions of the figures of previous year.

Note.—Grain compensation allowance estimated for the current and next year will be entered in Form B.M. 11 and attached to the budget estimates.

10.170. Proposals involving new expenditure.—(1) In making proposal, other than proposals concerning buildings involving expenditure not provided for in their budget allotments, officer shall invariably endeavour to suggest a means of meeting such expenditure during the current financial year by reappropriation within their allotment. Failing such reappropriation the Inspector-General may, if the proposal is approved, provide funds by reappropriation within his powers. Where however, the proposal involves recurring expenditure for which provision of Chapter 7 of the Budget Manual must be strictly observed. As all such proposals have to be placed by the Inspector-General before the Finance Department not later than August 1, after scrutiny by Deputy Inspector-General, by the Inspector-General himself and by the Home Department, it follows that the proposals must be put forward by the Superintendent of Police by June 15 at the latest. Only in very urgent cases can the Inspector-General send up supplementary proposals as later as the 1st October, so that latest possible date for the submission by Superintendent of even urgent proposals involving expenditure in the next financial year in the 1st September.

(2) In the case of proposals for new expenditure on buildings the principles laid down in Chapter 7 of the Budget Manual also apply general, but the date by which the Inspector-General is required to submit his list of major and minor works is the 20th September; proposals may therefore, be put forward to Deputy Inspector-General by Superintendent as late as the 1st September, Supplementary proposals may, if of great urgency, be submitted to Deputy Inspector-General up to the 10th October at the latest. As, however, proposals regarding buildings required the reparation of plans and estimates and the obtaining of administrative approval according to police rule 3.7 before the Inspector-General can take steps towards the provision of funds, it is essential that building requirement should be studied as far in advance that building requirements should be studied as far in advance as possible and put forward in the proper form, in order of urgency and by the required dates. On the other hand proposals should not be submitted unless there is reasonable prospect of getting funds. Inquiry might be made demi-officially from the Inspector-General through the Deputy Inspector-General.

10.171. Distribution of budget allotment.—The action to be taken after the communication to the Inspector-General of the budget allotment of the department for the year is described in paragraphs 12.5 and 12.6 of the Budget Manual. Not later than the 15th May the Inspector-General inform heads of offices, by means of a statement published in the Police Gazette, of the grants distributed to them, and the amounts retained by him in a reserve.

10.172. Reporting of loss caused to Government.—In order that transactions which involve a loss to Government may proposal accounted for in audit, all instance of loss to Government coming under the following categories shall be reported to the Inspector-General through the Deputy Inspector-General concerned, and also to the Accountant-General, through the Inspector-General, in case in which a report to that officer is to be made under Article 29 of the Civil Account Code—

The following rules apply to the Punjab in amplification of those framed by Government of India on reverse of the foil of this form headed " For Railway"—

(1) Bound books of warrants containing 100 forms in each shall be kept locked up. Before delivery to issuing officers the forms shall be counted in the office of the Superintendent of Police.

(2) Warrants shall only be used by Police Officers when traveling on duty and for prisoners in their charge.

(6) Police Officers (except members of the Railway Police) whose duties require them to travel constantly by railway and whose traveling allowance is covered by Rule 2.74 of the Travelling Allowance Rules) may draw 2/3rd of the fare of the class in which they are entitled to travel under rule 2.18; and a half daily allowance for the days of departure and arrival under rule 2.65 of the Travelling Allowance Rules.

(7) The Accountant-General will forward the warrants received from the railway to Superintendent of Police once a month for check and countersignature, in accordance with rule 7 on the reverse of the foil of this form headed "For railway". They shall be returned to the Accountant-General without fail within a week from the date of receipt.

(2) Files under each subject-head will be of three descriptions, viz., "Miscellaneous," "General" or "Special."

(a) Only one "miscellaneous" file shall be maintained under each main head. It will be given the first serial number under the head concerned each year, and will contain all correspondence on that head of an unimportant or routine nature, concerning which no lengthy correspondence is expected, and for which a "general" or "special" file is considered unnecessary.

(b) "General" files under each subject-head will consist of papers connected with periodical correspondence or returns on one general subject, on any one item of which no lengthy correspondence is expected. General files will be marked with the letter "G".

(c) A "special" file shall be started for every case which, either from the time of its initiation or at a later stage, appears likely to be the subject of prolonged correspondence, or to be of intrinsic importance as a precedent or as embodying a new ruling or order, or to constitute a distinct item within a general sub-head, which is likely to be required frequently for reference and should be kept on record for more than ten years. It will frequently be necessary to transfer papers from a "miscellaneous" or "general" file to a "special" file. Whenever this is done corrections must be made in the diary of correspondence, and index of the file from which the papers are removed.

(3) Papers in connection with "miscellaneous" and "general" files may, if convenient, be submitted separately as they are received. After necessary orders have been issued and complied with they should be placed with the files to which they belong. Papers in connection with "special" files should ordinary be submitted for orders with their files.

(2) A new register and a new series of serial number will be started at the commencement of each year.

11.29. Filling of papers.—Ordinarily a new file will be started for each subject head with the first letter received or issued thereon in the new year, but when the file is not a large one (viz. over 100 pages) or when only a few more letters are expected to complete it, it should be left to the discretion of the head clerk to file such papers with the previous year's file instead of starting a new file.

11.30. Arrangements of correspondence files.—(1) For purposes of arrangement in the record room, correspondence files will be divided into two classes—

(a) "Action" files, in which further correspondence is expected, including all "miscellaneous" and "general" files.

(b) Completed "special" files, in which correspondence has been finished.

(2) One or more record cupboards should be kept for correspondence files of the current and preceding year, and should be divided into compartment marked with a distinguishing number for each main-head. Each compartment will be subdivided into two.

Action files will be kept in the upper division and completed files in the lower division of the compartment.

No file shall be considered for destruction till it has been three years in the "old records". Files in the "old records" shall be kept in two classes (a) miscellaneous and general, (b) special. No special file shall be considered for destruction till it has been ten years in the "old records".

Subject to this guiding principle the record room staff will be continuously engaged on the overhaul of old files. Each file liable to destruction will be first examined with the aid of its index. Any portion of its contents which the record clerk considers should be kept, shall be removed-the orders of the head clerk being taken if necessary-before the rest of the file is destroyed. The orders of the head clerk shall invariably be taken before a special file is destroyed. As each file is destroyed its original entry in the file register of the year concerned shall be cancelled in red ink, dated and initialed by the record clerk. Progress in destruction work will be checked at all office inspections by reference to the file register.

Papers removed for retention from files which are to be destroyed shall be recorded in a special file under the appropriate subject-head entitled "papers retained from files destroyed." This extra file shall, when created, be entered in red ink at the end of the file register of the year in question.

APPENDIX 11.4 A

D.O. No. 890-G-37/58'4 (H-Gaz.)

Dated Lahore, the 19th February, 1937

Subject.*—RELIEF TO BE GIVEN TO DEPUTY COMMISSIONER AND OTHER ADINSTRATIVE AND EXECTIVE OFFICERS IN CLERICAL WORK

MY DEAR SIR,

I am desired to inform you that at the instance of His Excellency the Viceroy, and exhaustive inquiry was recently held into the touring of district officers. The latter were asked to bring to the notice of Government any matters which tended to interfere with touring. The inquiry has elicited an almost general complaint.

(i) that unnecessary reference are often made to district officers by the Secretariat or by Head of Department asking for information or report, and.

(ii) that where necessary references are made, inadequate in time is sometimes given to reply the.

(2) Proposals which are circulated from the Secretariat for opinions consist of Legislative measures and other references. With regard to the former there are Standing Orders (Paragraph 417 of the Secretariat Instructions) that it is undesirables to add to the pre-occupation of district officers by asking for opinions on question of which they have little knowledge, or which do not seriously affect their district, and the attention of all officer in the Secretariat has recently been drawn to these instruction with a view to ensuring that superfluous calls are not made on the time to Deputy Commissioners do divert them form their more important duties.

(3) With regard to other references, the Governor in Council acting with Ministers has been pleased to lay down the following principles for observances in the Secretariat—

(i) No call for information should be made, unless it is necessary for the disposal of a case, and is not available in the Secretariat or office of the Head Departmental concerned.

(ii) While Commissioners and Deputy Commissioners should be freely consulted about questions of Policy or particular case affecting their charges, care should be taken to see that reference are not made, unless it is clearly desirable to have the views of the Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner, and, in perticular, the pernicious practice should be checked of making reference with the object of temporarily getting rid of a case.

(iii) Where a reference is necessary, reasonable time should be given for a reply. What is reasonable will depend on the nature of the case. Sometimes it is necessary to have an immediate reply at other an early reply is necessary. Often period of two or three month may safely be given. Unless the case is immediate or very urgent, referring authorities should given adequate time for the material necessary for reply to be collected.

(iv) Complaints or applications are often made direct to Government, which related to matters of a purely local character. Sometimes they are sufficiently important or serious to merit a report to Government by the local authorities. More often they can be left to the latter for disposal. Where this is the case, ;there are two ways of dealing with them in the Secretariat, the first is to return the complaint or application to the sender for presentation to the proper authority, and the second is to send it in original through the proper channel to the competent authority for disposal. Where the fist method is appropriate, it is to be preferred to the second, since it helps to check a tendency which is on the increase. In any case, the primary principles should be observed not to call for reports from local officers on application and complaints of this kind, unless it is clearly desirable for Government to take up the matter. The practice to sending references from the Secretariat marked "for disposal or report" should cease. The endorsement should make it clearly whether the reference is for disposal or for report.

In exercise of the powers conferred on him by rules 2 and 7 of the Rules for the protection of source of information, the Inspector-General of Police, with the approval of the Government of the Punjab, given in this discretion, is pleased to issue the following general directions—

(1) The actual names of agents and source of information relating to the operations persons committing or conspiring, preparing or attempting to commit crimes of violence which in the opinion of the Governor are intended to overthrow the Government as by law established, shall not a rule be kept on record. When it is necessary to keep them on record, they shall be kept on a file marked "STRICTLY SECRET".

(2) STRICTLY SECRET files referred to in paragraph I shall, if prepared by district police, he kept in the personal custody of the Superintendent of Police of the district, and if prepared by the Criminal Investigation Department, shall be kept in the personal custody of the Superintendent of Police, Special Branch or Superintendent of Police, Crime, as the case may be. The Deputy Inspector-General of Police, Criminal Investigation Department, shall however, be empowered to nominate the custodians of these files notwithstanding anything contained in the direction.

(3) If any member of the police force in possession of any such record or of information of the identity of any source or agent as described in paragraph I of these directions, deems it necessary in the interest of the administration to disclose such record or information to any other member of the police force he shall, if serving in a district, take the orders of the Superintendent of Police or other gazetted nominated by the Deputy Inspector-General Criminal Investigation Department, in his behalf and if serving in the Criminal Investigation Department, he shall take the orders of the Superintendent of Police, Special Branch, or Superintendent of Police Crime, as the case may be.

Note.—"Police force" in this direction refers to police serving under the Punjab Government only. Disclosure of such information to any member of other police forces requires the order of the Governor, in accordance with the rule 8 of the Rules for the Protection of Source of Information.

(4) Transmission of such information on record by post shall be avoided when possible. Where it is necessary to send it by post, it shall be send in a double sealed cover registered and insured, and addressed by name to the officer to whom it is to disclosed.
